SEN. MARVEL SAYS:

Workshop Part Of Educational Program At NU

A detailed examination of the proposed tax institutes which the University of Nebraska will conduct throughout the state next year "indicates, in my opinion, that they will be conducted as any other well-organized adult education program," Sen. Richard Marvel said Monday.

The Hastings senator, chairman of the Budget Committee, made the statement following a meeting he requested with Dr. Everett Peterson, NU extension specialist in agricultural economics who is in charge of the project.

NU will conduct approximately 15 two-day workshops throughout the state from Jan. 17 to March 2 to give community leaders background information on the basics of public finance.

Title of the workshops is "Let's Talk About Nebraska Taxes." Ten community leaders (predominantly rural) will be invited from each county to attend the sessions, and about 6 counties will be represented at each workshop.

The Objectives

Objectives of these workshops, as explained by Dr. Peterson, are to:

—"Provide the citizens of Nebraska with basic, factual and concise information on the state and local tax situation, on problems arising from the existing system, on sound principles of public finance, and on the advantages and disadvantages of alternative methods of obtaining revenue for public purposes.

—"Increase citizens' awareness of their responsibilities in becoming informed on this and other important public issues, in reaching sound decisions based on the best available information, and in making their decisions known regarding the level of spending and distribution of cost of services to appropriate government bodies with taxing and spending authority."

Part Of Policy

Marvel said he had been asked whether the proposed institutes were included in the University's budget, and that Dr. Peterson had related to him that these were part of a policy established about 10 years ago in NU's role as a land grant institution.

A land grant university has a 3-pronged role: research, on-campus teaching, and off-campus education through its extension service, Dr. Peterson said.

The proposed tax institutes are part of extension service's program on agricultural policy and public affairs, Dr. Peterson explained.

'Not New Activity'

Marvel said this explanation establishes that "this is not a new activity, but one conducted through the framework of the University's regular educational approach, a function of this department established 10 years ago, and therefore included in its budget."

The budget chairman said he also had been questioned about the propriety of the University's conducting such tax workshops, and that he felt this was not his decision to make.

"Any discussion of tax matters by any agency of state government may be a controversial subject, but the selection of specific topics following the policy established by appropriate officials of the University is rightfully an administrative decision," Marvel said.

Marvel, who is a graduate student in political science at the University, said that "as a prospective teacher, I intend to see that my students are as adequately informed as possible so that they can become active citizens."

Death Caused By Exposure And Shock

No evidence of foul play was found in the death of Mrs. True Dell Bowers of 1961 U, whose body was found Saturday on the muddy edge of a Salt Creek tributary southwest of Lincoln.

Chief Lancaster County Deputy Attorney William Blue reported Monday that an autopsy and laboratory tests indicated death of the 46-year-old woman was caused by exposure and shock aggravated by alcohol.

Blue said an investigation revealed Mrs. Bowers had gone to a party Friday night, had an argument with a friend and wandered off toward the creek.

The autopsy failed to show evidence of physical violence and laboratory tests indicated that the woman was intoxicated at the time of death, Blue said.

He theorized that she fell down the creek bank.

No further investigation will be conducted, he said.

WORLD PAYMENTS DEFICIT IS CLIMBING

U.S. Recovery Hikes Imports

Some Increase In Outflow Of Gold Also Occurs

Washington (AP)—The U. S. deficit in international payments climbed to an annual rate of slightly more than $3 billion a year in the third quarter, the Commerce Department announced Monday.

Despite a variety of moves to bring the international accounts into balance, the deficit increased by more than 50% from the April-June Quarter, the report showed.

The rise was blamed chiefly on two factors—"an exceptionally rapid increase in merchandise imports," resulting from the business recovery, and a decline of foreign investment in the United States.

Some increase in the outflow of gold occurred simultaneously.

Gold Holdings Dip

U. S. gold holdings declined by $145 million in the quarter, offsetting a rise of about the same amount in June.

Officials predicted privately the payments deficit might be smaller in the present quarter, but very likely could be expected to worsen again early next year as the U.S. business recovery encourages more private spending aboard.

At the same time, weakening of the boom in Western Europe and possibly in Japan could cause a drop in their spending and investing in the United States.

But by midyear, the same sources suggested, some of the steps now being taken to correct the situation may be showing effect. These include the official drive to encourage exports; the new program for insurance of export credits; the negotiations with Germany looking toward larger purchases of military equipment from the United States, and direct U.S. intervention in the exchange markets in defense of the dollar.

Well Below 1960

At $800 million in the third quarter, or approximately $3 billion a year after seasonal adjustment, the deficit still was at a rate well below the $3.7 billion of 1959 and the $3.9 billion of 1960.

The deficit amounted to $475 million in the second quarter, an annual rate of about $1.9 billion. In the first quarter, the deficit was $350 million, or $1.4 billion at an annual rate.

Over the first 3 quarters, the deficit was at an annual rate of about $1.5 billion. This, however, includes $650 million of advance repayment on debts owed by other countries, a helpful factor which cannot be expected to continue.

Downtown Street Plan Okayed By City Council

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The City Council Monday approved the Comprehensive Plan's downtown street pattern for certification to the State Highway Department for planning the Interstate 180 access route into Lincoln's business district.

Expediting of state plans towards an April bid letting reportedly hinged on a street decision by the city, which, if postponed, would delay construction beyond 1962.

Four councilmen voted approval following a lengthy public hearing and council discussion. Three didn't vote.

Major controversy revolved around Q Street, proposed as a major two-way street for connection with the Interstate access route at 9th and 10th.

"This plan has two glaring faults," Councilman John Comstock declared. "There will be cross-over traffic congestion at the Interstate access and at the Northeast Diagonal unless the routes are fed into one-way pairs."

Planning Director Douglas Brogden said Q must be a two-way street if R is to be preserved as a local street for University of Nebraska expansion south to Q.

Q can be paired with only R or P, he said. "If paired with P, then the move would conflict with the planning effort to remove traffic conflicts between vehicles and pedestrians on O to strengthen the retail area between 10th and 15th."

"The Comprehensive Plan is concerned not only with developing a traffic pattern, but a land-use framework for downtown Lincoln," he added.

'Won't Exist'

"If the 7th Street by-pass is constructed in the future, any cross-over traffic difficulty on Q at 9th and 10th will be resolved—it won't exist."

City Engineer Carl Fisher said the state engineer has taken no position on this plan or a one-way grid system suggested by the public works department.

He said no federal funds are available for the 7th Street by-pass, but Brogden said this doesn't mean the Federal Bureau of Roads can't change its mind in the future.

Additionally to proposed Q as a two-way street, the (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

BRUCE HANS

Lincoln Youth Missing With Small Plane

From Press Reports

Overcast skies Monday grounded squads searching for a Princeton University student from Lincoln, Neb., whose small plane, bound from Poughkeepsie to Trenton, N.J., was missing and believed down in the Cornwall Mountain area.

Press reports said Bruce Hans, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Hans of 1538 East Manor Drive, took off in a Princeton Aviation Club plane Monday from Duchess County Airport. He should have arrived at Trenton at 1:30 a.m. He was reported to have had a 3-hour fuel supply.

Hans made frequent trips between Poughkeepsie and Trenton to visit a girl at Vassar College.

A graduate of Southeast High School, Bruce was an honor roll student, a member of the National Honor Society as a junior, qualified for the National Merit Scholarship examination, member of the debate squad, member of the football and tennis teams, and a member of S Club.

U.S., Britain Call For Reds To Resume Talks

. . . ON NUCLEAR TEST BAN

Washington (AP)— The United States and Britain urged the Soviet Union Monday to return to the Geneva conference table and resume the nuclear test ban talks which ran aground nearly two months ago.

There was little, if any, hope that Moscow will accept the invitation. That the chances are slim was indicated last week by Valerian Zorin, chief Soviet delegate to the United Nations, who said a test ban treaty must be worked out within the framework of general disarmament.

The 3-year-long tripartite talks were recessed Sept. 9 to give the U.N. General Assembly a chance to discuss the issue.

Should Continue

The U.S. note said the world organization has completed its debate by adopting a resolution calling for resumption of the talks. Therefore, the note went on, the United States proposes that the discussions should continue starting Nov. 28 or on any other date agreeable to the Soviets.

The Geneva talks became stalled when the Russians resumed testing in the atmosphere on Sept. 1.

Since then Russia has exploded more than 30 nuclear devices in what the state department called "the single most intensive testing program in history." It included 25 and 55-to-60 megaton superbombs — the mightiest ever touched off.

Ordered Tests

On Sept. 5, President Kennedy ordered the resumption of underground U.S. tests, which do not contaminate the air. The first American bomb was exploded on Sept. 15, followed by a few others, at least 4. Kennedy has ordered preliminary preparations made for resuming atmospheric tests.

A U.S. statement issued Monday together with the text of the note—which was delivered to the Soviet foreign ministry in Moscow — said that while this country is still determined to sign a pact banning further tests, the United States "will pursue its own program of carefully circumscribed testing until such an agreement is reached."

Temperatures To Stay In Forties

Wednesday's state high was recorded at 45 in Broken Bow. Lincoln reported a high of 41. The state low was 22 at Chadron.

Nehru Thinks War Unlikely

. . . IN FORESEEABLE FUTURE

Hollywood (UPI) — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India said Monday "war is unlikely in the foreseeable future" and saw the door opening "gradually" to a solution of the Berlin crisis.

Taking time out from a busy schedule during his 3-day Southern California visit, Nehru also told a news conference relations between Russia and Red China "are not good." But he said the two Communist countries were held together by various factors despite current differences.

Nehru shortly before noon visited Paramount Studios where he was serenaded by a brass band on the set of a western movie, "The Outlaw." Several hundred actors and technicians sang "Happy Birthday" to the prime minister who will be 72 Tuesday.

Nehru also posed with blonde actress Martha Hyer and chatted with actor Charlton Heston.

The prime minister and his party were guests at a private luncheon at the Ambassador Hotel before starting out for a visit to Marineland.

At the private luncheon for 12 persons, Nehru played host to novelists Christopher Isherwood and Irving Stone, actor Marlon Brando, comedian Danny Kaye and philosopher Will Durant and his wife.

Emerging from the luncheon, Durant said:

"We began with light conversation and progressed into very fundamental questions of ethics and politics. I came away with the very real hope that India could serve as a buffer between Russia and the United States."

Farm Bureau Reports '61 Operations In Red

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Nebraska Farm Bureau members attending the 1961 annual convention of the State Farm Bureau Federation Monday were told that their operations during the past year registered a loss with expenses exceeding income.

"In all my years in Farm Bureau we have never been in anymore of a corner than we are now," said Treasurer Robert Thompson.

He reported a loss of $16,431.35 on the first year's operation of the Farm and Ranch Supply Co. of Nebraska, incorporated to furnish supplies to farmers.

The operating statement of the general office of Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation showed expenses in excess of income at $9,692,57. according to Thompson's report.

Total income received by the Nebraska Farm Bureau from Oct. 1, 1960, to Sept. 30, 1961, was $102,398.90 with total expenses listed at $122,091.47, according to the operating statement.

The two largest expenditures listed by the state Farm Bureau office were $35,250.86 for salaries and $23,166.89 for administrative expense.

Farm Bureau membership dues resulted in $91,574.00 revenue.

"We need more participation in our programs to make them go and to overcome operating expenses," Thompson told members.

Need Sales

Criticizing members for buying merchandise at other outlets rather than participating in Farm Bureau companies an official said, "What we need is more sales."

"To me Farm Bureau is turning a corner and we have to lift ourselves to a new approach to meet the times we are living in," explained a state official.

Action to raise state Farm Bureau dues from $10 to $20 per year in the 1960 state convention has met a charge from the Webster County Farm Bureau that the raise is unconstitutional.

"Of the 157 delegates seated in the 1960 convention, the amendment to raise dues needed 105 votes to become Farm Bureau law, but received only 87," claim Webster County Farm Bureau officials.

Jailing Of Skid Row Drunks Is 'Cruel And Futile' Practice

By LEIF ERICKSON

San Francisco (AP) — American and British justice follows a cruel and futile policy in jailing skid row drunks, Judge John M. Murtagh declared Monday.

He said enforcement of public intoxication laws "not only has been ineffective but involves a degree of cruelty to the skid road derelict that cries for correction."

Judge Murtagh is chief justice of the court of special sessions in New York City. He addressed the Symposium on Alcohol and Civilization at the University of California School of Medicine.

The symposium is part of a program intended to provide continuing education for physicians and health workers. The Wine Advisory Board, an industry-supported state agency, gave a $25,000 grant to help finance the symposium.

Judge Murtagh said New York City had abandoned public intoxication arrests in 1940. But in other U.S. urban centers, nearly half of all criminal arrests are drunk arrests.

"More than half of those confined at any time in county jail throughout the United States are persons committed for public intoxication," the judge said.

100,000 A Year

Judge Murtagh noted that intoxication arrests in Los Angeles run nearly 100,000 a year, compared with less than 15,000 in New York where such arrests are not made unless disorderly conduct at least is involved.

The practice of British police and courts is the same as the general American policy, he added.

"Night after night, we find the police picking up men and women in the streets — filthy, battered, sick, and unutterably pathetic — and locking them up in the drunk tank."

After appearing in court or serving a short sentence, they are released only to be picked up again in an endless revolving door process, the judge said.

He said the alcoholic — suffering sickness in body, mind and soul — presents a difficult social problem.

"The ultimate answer, of course, lies in an improved society, a society which has fewer families that are inadequate materially, socially, emotionally and spiritually," he said.

Foreign Students In Danger Of Being U.S. Foes, Educators Say

Visitors Are Antagonized While Here

. . . Lederer Reports

By G. K. HODENFIELD

Kansas City (AP) — More than 50,000 foreign students are now studying in this country and there is danger that many of them may become anti-American, a group of ranking educators said Monday.

They said the selection of these students, their preparations and their programs must be drastically overhauled if the United States is to meet "the greatest educational challenge of the age."

The report, 5 months in preparation, was given to the annual meeting of the American Association of Land Grant Colleges and State Universities by Dean John McConnell of Cornell University, chairman of the 11-man study group.

Fail To Make Friends

"All evidence points to increasing numbers of foreign students coming to the United States," the report said. "There is mounting evidence that with many of these students we are failing to make friends for the United States."

The report included this quotation from the recent best seller, "A Nation of Sheep," by William Lederer:

"We often fail to pick the right students. On top of that we have an uncanny talent for insulting the ones we do invite. A frightenly large number of foreign students are bewildered and antagonized during their stay in the United States. They seldom get to know us for what we are.

"It is a dismal commentary on our failure . . . that in Japan, China and Germany, many of the leaders who were (and are) most vehhemently anti-American are those who were educated in the United States."

Confusion Apparent

Many foreign students become withdrawn for lack of ability to speak English well enough, the report said. Many are confused about what is expected of them in relationships with the opposite sex.

And, noted the report, "despite our best efforts, African students will undoubtedly encounter some form of racial discrimination during their stay in the United States.

The study group recommended that the problem be met in part with federal grants to provide:

Academic counseling and testing services in foreign countries to select the right students and direct them to suitable U.S. colleges and universities.

English language centers in foreign countries and in the United States for all foreign students needing instruction.

Orientation programs for all foreign students, both at home and in the United States.

Another study group, under the chairmanship of Dr. H. W. Hannah, of the University of Illinois, reported on a survey of U.S. universities maintaining educational programs abroad.

This report said universities should not plunge into such programs without first determining what the problems, hopes and objectives are, in terms of the people of the foreign countries involved. It also called for better selection, orientation and preparation of staff members and their families for overseas assignments.

ESTRANGED PAIR DUELS TO DEATH

Pembroke, N.C. (UPI) — An estranged couple staged a gun duel with matched pistols in a downtown supermarket Monday and killed each other.

Each fired 5 shots from a 22-caliber pistol and each was struck by 5 bullets.

The shots were fired at close range as the couple, Marvin Locklear, 31, and his wife, Nina, 27, moved through the store. Customers and employes fled for the exits.

There were about half a dozen customers in the store, a block from the police station in the heart of this all-Indian town.

They fell to the floor dead at the rear of the supermarket.

"Their feet were almost touching," said Assistant Police Chief Simeon Oxendine, a friend of the Locklears and first officer to reach the store. "They were that close."

Locklear had come to the store asking Manager Raymond Hendrix if he could get his wife, a store employe, to take him to a Veterans Hospital in Fayetteville for treatment of "nerves," Oxendine said. Hendrix said Locklear went to the back of the store and a violent quarrel began.

When he saw the pistol in Locklear's hand, Hendrix ran to the police station and located Oxendine on the street.

"Marvin had called me yesterday from Charlotte and said his nerves were going bad again, and that he was afraid he would have to go back to the hospital before he did something he shouldn't do," Oxendine said.

He said the couple had been separated about 8 weeks because of "family troubles." They had 3 children.

—Right To Speak—

Rockwell Is Upheld

. . . By Supreme Court

Washington (AP) — The Supreme Court, without comment, refused Monday to review a ruling that New York City was wrong in barring American Nazi George Lincoln Rockwell from speaking in Union Square last year.

This let stand a decision by New York's State Court of Appeals that Newbold Morris, city commissioner of parks, had no right to deny a speaking permit to Rockwell, however unpopular his views might be.

The city had banned the speech on grounds that Rockwell's appearance might set off riots and disorders. In appealing to the Supreme Court, the city listed disturbances in the past touched off by Rockwell's anti-Jewish speeches.

But the New York high court upheld a lower state court opinion that "the right of free expression is not to be entrusted to administrative, previous restriction for contemplated violations of the law."

95th Grange Meet Opens Optimistically

Worcester, Mass. (UPI)—The 95th annual meeting of the National Grange opened Monday on an optimistic note for the economic future of America's farmers.

An estimated 15,000 persons, including delegates and their families, were on hand for the 10-day convention.

National Master Herschel D. Newsom told the Grange that nationally there was a new atmosphere of hope that farm income could be raised. He said that in the past year the Grange had more legislative successes than in any comparable period since World War I.

Fierce Tropical Storm Claims More Than 80

Acapulco, Mexico (AP) — Delayed reports reaching here Monday said a fierce tropical storm ravaged the seaside village of Nuxco, north of Acapulco, killing more than 80 persons.

Other towns and villages along the 120-mile stretch of Pacific Coast between Acapulco and Zihuatanejo were reported badly damaged by the storm, which swept the area from Friday to Sunday. It was feared that the death toll would rise as isolated areas were heard from.

Nuxco was located between the Pacific and a lagoon, and official reports said the village was destroyed by towering waves and flood waters from the lagoon.

The highway between Acapulco and Zihuatanejo was under water at several places. Military planes from Mexico City were unable to land at many places and had to bring their cargoes of food and medicine to Acapulco.

Troops were sent during the day from Chilpancingo and Acapulco to help in the rescue operations. Jeeps and other vehicles were dispatched with loads of clothes, food and medicine.

The area affected includes the towns of Galena, Petatlan, Atoyac, Coyuca De Benitez and Tecpan.

Downtown Street Plan Is Okayed

adopted street pattern would continue 9th and 10th; 16th and 17th, and K and L as one-way pairs.

P-N One-Way

O, R and 15th within the downtown area would be encouraged as local streets while P would be one-way west and N would be one-way east to remove through traffic from O between 10th and 15th.

The Downtown Development of Lincoln's executive committee endorsed the Comprehensive Plan's street pattern and also called for future construction of the 7th Street by-pass route and construction of the Northeast Diagonal "at the earliest possible date."

L. A. Enerson, DDL consultant, said the state highway department has given "unofficial approval" to the Comprehensive Plan's pattern.

Also, he added, there is a "proposed by-pass route around the north edge of the NU campus for traffic going east and southeast of the downtown area."

'Not Getting Access'

Nathan Gold, member of the DDL executive committee, said Omaha is "getting access connections to the Interstate—Lincoln isn't."

"If Lincoln doesn't move, I can envision no access connection until 1965 or later," he added. "We must give the state engineer a pattern for downtown streets."

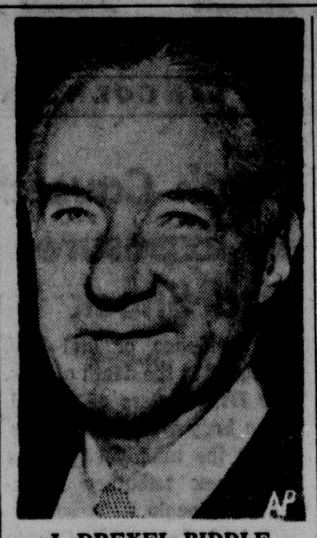

"The University of Nebraska is happy with the plan," NU Business Manager Carl Donaldson said. "The University envisions extending the campus across R and the comprehensive plan is ad-advantageous to us."

John Campbell, DDL member, said the "urgency of the Interstate access route is paramount here. Let's rely on the experts of the city, the planning department and the DDL consultants."

Councilwoman Helen Boosalis suggested that the council meet with State Engineer John Hossack before voting on a street plan and declined to vote.

Also not voting were Lloyd Hinkley and Comstock, the latter apparently because of his apprehension whether cross-over traffic conflicts at 9th and Q and 10th and Q could be resolved under the recommended plan.

Voting for the plan, as recommended by the City-County Planning Commission in the 1980 Comprehensive Plan, were Mayor Pat Boyles and Councilmen Ed Becker, Del Tyrrell and Kenneth Lewis.

Central Congo Leader Brands Tshombe Traitor

. . . Demands U.N. Put End To Katanga Chaos

United Nations, N.Y. (AP)—The central Congo government Monday demanded effective aid from the United Nations to put an end to what it called chaos stirred up by Katanga Premier Moise Tshombe.

Justin Bomboko, the Congolese foreign minister, denounced Tshombe as a traitor who was responsible for the division of the Congo.

Bomboko addressed the 11-nation Security Council as it met for the first time since last February to consider events in the Congo. It will meet again on Wednesday.

Bomboko made no specific request for U.N. military assistance for the Congolese army in a campaign aimed at ending Katanga's 16-month-old defiance of the central government.

But Ethiopian Ambassador Tesfaye Gebre-Egzy declared it was up to the council to issue explicit orders to its U.N. Congo command to support the central government's efforts to end the Katanga secession.

Ethiopia, Nigeria and Sudan had asked for the meeting to consider what action could be taken to deal with mercenaries they said were still causing trouble in the Congo.

California Lashed By New Fires

Los Angeles (AP) — Wind-driven brushfires burst across Southern California mountain slopes Monday, a week after two others burned 14,000 acres and hundreds of homes.

One of Monday's fires was quickly curbed. The second raged out of control, burning homes and leaping canyons in the hills north of the San Fernando Valley.

Ten homes burned in the Kagel Canyon area, forestry officials said. The flames moved into a community of mountain homes so fast that fleeing residents didn't have time to save their pets. Two dogs and 13 parakeets were killed.

The fire started in little Tujunga Canyon, 20 miles northwest of Los Angeles in the San Gabriel Mountains, at 2 p.m.

In 3 hours it had burned 3 miles, scorching 1,000 acres.

It climbed a steep slope and spilled over into Kagel Canyon. It spread through the residential section there and burned west toward Lopez Canyon.

Firemen evacuated 100 persons from a home for retired people in Lopez Canyon.

Another fire started earlier Monday in the hills north of Altadena, a foothill community 10 miles northeast of Los Angeles. Firemen, aided by water-bombing planes, curbed it in two hours.

First rule for the wise investor

If you're planning to give your money a chance to grow by investing in stock, you may be in a mood to welcome a hot tip. And you probably won't have to wait long.

It may come from a well-meaning friend, or from a stranger who may or may not be well-meaning.

Here's a timely warning about tips: The hotter they are the worse a hasty investor can get burned.

Whenever you're thinking of investing, drop in at a nearby Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange and let them help you get facts you'll want before you invest a penny. You'll find a broker there who has qualified as a Registered Representative by meeting the Exchange's requirements for knowledge of investing. He has no key to the future—nobody has. But he'll be glad to put his training and the experience of his firm at your disposal.

If you have funds over and above your needs for living expenses and emergencies you may be ready to become a shareowner. How you invest depends upon your goals. Some companies have been paying liberal dividends for a considerable time. Others have been paying smaller dividends—or none at all—in order to use profits for expansion and growth. Bonds normally offer greater safety of principal. Your Member Firm broker can help you decide which securities seem to have the best possibilities of meeting your needs.

Not every company prospers, of course. Some fail to make a profit and may not pay dividends or interest. But many have flourished in the past and will continue to thrive in the future.

You'll find a lot of valuable information in our free booklet, "INVESTMENT FACTS." It gives you the records of some 400 stocks that have paid a cash dividend every three months for 20 years or more. It contains much other helpful information. And it tells about the Monthly Investment Plan through which you can acquire stock in famous companies by investing with as little as $40 every three months, or as much as $1,000 a month.

Just send the coupon and we'll be happy to mail you a copy free.

Lutheran High School Academy Officials Eye Wahoo Facilities

By GENE BUDIG
Star Staff Writer

Wahoo — If Wahoo loses its junior college, it may gain a high school academy.

Representatives of a large Lutheran Church Synod have an eye on the Luther Junior College facilities, The Star learned Monday.

The synod has plans for creating a high school academy in Nebraska — and possibly at Wahoo.

However, all depends on whether the junior college is merged with Midland College at Fremont.

If such a merger materializes, the Wahoo campus would be left without students.

Representatives called the Luther plant "ideal" for their proposed academy.

The high school would accommodate around 275 students. Luther's enrollment nears 200.

In 1958, the large national church group bought 30 acres of land near Grand Island for the proposed institution.

One of the representatives said:

"The reason for the choice of Grand Island was that synod members felt it would be centrally located since their membership extends from coast to coast."

He added: "We would be slightly off course in Wahoo, but it would certainly fit our needs."

'One Drawback'

This community does have one glaring drawback, according to the spokesman.

"Wahoo is not on a railroad mainline and our students would be coming from great distances," he noted.

He added that bus connections would apparently compensate.

The interested synod already owns and operates several other Lutheran schools in other states, including two colleges.

White House Host To Very Exciting Evening

Washington (AP) — The plaudits of President Kennedy and great artists went Monday night to 84-year-old Pablo Casals as he gave an unprecedented cello recital in the White House ballroom.

The President said that Casals, a world-renowned musician who has made a moral protest against a dictatorship in Spain, has shown that an artist must be a free man.

Kennedy, who with his wife was host to some 200 guests at a state dinner honoring Puerto Rico's Governor Luiz Munos Marin, placed the emphasis of Monday night's affair on artistic talent.

Kennedy saluted Puerto Rico and Casals just before the after dinner recital, that lasted until 11:30 p.m. and drew applause and an encore.

The President said we have available in this country hundreds and thousands of artists and an outpouring of talent, which he characterized as much a part of the United States as other currently more publicized pursuits.

Casals' rare appearance was hailed by some of the great talents of the music world, whom the Kennedys had invited to the affair.

Composer Leonard Bernstein said "I thought it was marvelous. I was very deeply moved by the entire occasion —not simply by the music of Casals but by the company in which it was played — the hosts and the guests. It had a very special atmosphere. It excited me very much."

Italian-born Gian Carlo Menotti, famous dramatic composer, declared it "one of the most exciting evenings I have spent in my 30 years in America. It is the first time Americans have really shown they are above Europe" in the cultural field.

Nowhere in Europe today, said Menotti, could you have an evening like this.

And from Eugene Ormandy, music director of the Philadelphia Orchestra, came the accolade for Casals:

"It's an inspiration to all of us. He's the greatest living artist."

The bald-headed Casals, who had performed for almost an hour in the glittering ballroom, virtually clucked and declared he was very, very pleased.

NASA Proposal Backs Compulsory Redistricting

. . . DELEGATES WILL VOTE TODAY

By WOODY HOWE
Star Staff Writer

The resolutions committee of the Nebraska Association of School Administrators has made a proposal that, if adopted, would throw the association's weight behind compulsory K-12 redistricting.

The proposed resolution would "reaffirm the association's interest in working with other educational agencies toward the formulation of legislation which will not only achieve K-12 reorganization, but which will insure districts of adequate size and potential for the provision of a program of quality education."

It will come up for adoption Tuesday, the final day of the association's conference at the Nebraska Center.

The resolution backs up action taken at the October 17 convention of the Nebraska State School Board Association.

The K-12 plan would make compulsory the reorganization of state school districts into only districts which offer education from kindergarten through 12th grade.

'Important To School'

The proposed school administrators' resolution cites school district reorganization as "of extreme importance to the improvement of public education in Nebraska.

Another resolution to be considered would urge school boards to protect students, teachers and administrators from "undue pressure by special interest groups who propose surveys, contests" and similar activities.

The resolution implies official disfavor with recent polls aimed at measuring student thinking, claiming "any external measuring activity detracts" from the school program.

Endorse Aid

In still another proposed resolution, the association would endorse both state and federal aid for public education, the federal aid on a per capita average daily attendance basis.

This resolution attributes a decline of school revenue from property tax—"practically the sole source of revenue for the support of education"— to "breakdown of the 'uniform and equal method of taxing property' rule in the State Constitution," and to the "increasing number of 'in lieu' taxes."

The same resolution, however, opposes the continuation of federal aid for science, mathematics and foreign language under the National Defense Education Act of 1958.

The resolutions committee would also urge that teacher certification be handled by the State Board of Education, pointing out that Nebraska is one of only 4 states that do not delegate this authority to state boards of education.

Dr. Beggs Attacks Nation's 'Obsession With Giftedness'

Dr. Walter K. Beggs rapped this country's growing obsession with "giftedness" and urged educators not to forget the culture's basic commitment to mass education Monday night.

Dr. Beggs, dean of University of Nebraska Teachers College, reminded over 300 school administrators that America's genius has been that "we give the kid who is handicapped as much opportunity as the gifted."

"My great worry is not that we might fail to produce top scientists and scholars," he claimed, confessing instead a worry that we might fail to achieve excellence on lower levels of intelligence.

His banquet speech in the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education concluded the second day of a 3-day conference of the Nebraska Association of School Administrators.

'Don't Stereotype'

He pointed out an attitude he feared might bring America's educational achievements "to naught." It is, he said, a tendency to "stereotype a gifted person as one who thinks only abstractly and in theory."

"If we think all there is to human intelligence is this," he continued, "then education is lost."

Dr. Beggs told the school officials their job was to enable every student to "become the best he can be."

He admitted a need for "digging out the geniuses." He said we must not make the mistake "we made in the 30's — pinning the level of accomplishment to the average."

We must not, however, make a similar mistake of "stretching only the good ones — let's stretch them all," he said.

Among the featured guests at Tuesday's session will be Dr. Floyd Miller, assistant commissioner of education.

Neutrals Need Education

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The United States has learned, even though there is yet much bitter controversy over it, that the world has grown to such a state that it no longer can be content with the administration of merely its own affairs. If the U.S. left the rest of the world to its own devices, it would be at the mercy of ruthless nations such as Russia and China which, as an integral part of their political philosophy, covet the lands and people of other nations.

And if the aggressive communist powers were able to extend their control far enough, they would eventually arrive at a point of strength with which we would be unable to deal. We have come to know that communism is a cancerous type of thing which never stops moving forward, which always seeks a new area of operation and exploitation. No such threat as this can be left alone or it will surely devour you. One does not face unarmed a bear in the forest but rather, flees the animal as quickly as possible. Some things simply require an active state of being.

Ever Creeping Menace

But none of these things appears to have made much of an impression upon the neutral nations of the world—headed by the surging Indian nation under Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru. In a discussion with U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations Adlai Stevenson, Nehru seemed to be excusing the other neutrals for their lack of concern over Russian outrages against the world.

If these nations do not express the indignation that such things as resumption of nuclear testing should provoke, he said, it is only because they are so preoccupied with their own local problems. This may be a good reason for some of the reaction of the neutral nations but it doesn't hold much water on several counts.

First and foremost is the fact that what the neutrals are doing will not save their skin. It is possible that we may be able to do enough to save their skins, for a time at least, but this is certainly a dangerous state of being for them. If they become too concerned and involved with only their own problems, they may wake up some fine morning to find that all their concern is to no avail. What good will it have done them to build up their own nations only to fall victim to the imperialism of Russia? Whatever they have accomplished then would go to the benefit of the Soviet Union, not their own people.

This is the pattern which is repeated throughout the Red empire of satellites. The people of these satellites labor and toil but the rewards of their efforts are siphoned off for the Soviet Union. Both their products and their wealth are poured, not into their own economies, but into the economy of Russia and into the Russian war machine. So the neutral nations had better learn quickly that they have the cart before the horse. The first order of business for them, for the world, is to meet the threat of communism and once that has been done, then efforts can be directed into other channels. This is what the United States is doing and we are far better equipped to be indifferent if we so desired than are the newer nations of the world or the underdeveloped nations.

Of next importance is that the neutral nations are often at fault as much for what they do as for what they fail to do and Nehru's explanation of things, if that is what you want to call it, has to do with only the latter state of affairs. It is bad enough that the neutral nations fail to stand up and be counted when it is needed but it is worse that they even actively serve the cause of communism from time to time.

This is what they do when they attend such a thing as the recent Belgrade conference and issue stern warnings against Western colonialism, when they respond negatively to Western rights in Berlin, when they approve nuclear test controls without inspections and when they approve of three-man control of the United Nations.

All of these things they have done, to the difficulty of the United States in her efforts to keep the Russian bear from the door of still more nations. Their attitude at times seems to be "a plague on both your houses" and this is just fine with the Kremlin. Before this is taken to mean something it does not, it should be pointed out that what the neutrals have done does not constitute grounds for our abandonment of them or concern for them. This would not be in keeping with our tradition nor would it serve any useful purpose for us. At best, it would represent a spiteful action.

No Cause For Spite

It is time, however, that the neutral nations begin to see more clearly which side their bread is buttered on. Along with what must seem like an endless amount of other responsibilities, the U.S. should make a real effort to bring about greater understanding on the part of the neutrals as to what the present world conflict is all about.

"Let's Have More BIGGER-THAN-EVER Golden Eggs!"

The Public Interest

Herschell D. Newsome, president of the National Grange, has outlined an eight point program to solve the price and surplus problems of American agriculture.

Without going into the details of all the points, the essence is to remove, largely, the federal hand, and give the production and marketing to producer-controlled organizations; make the producer pay for work of organizations and make the consumer, rather than the taxpayer, foot the general bill through higher prices for farm products.

This is all very fine on paper, this distinguishing between a consumer and a taxpayer, between federal constraint and rule, not by the individual producer, but by a controlling organization, and between an actual free, competitive market and one affected by a combine of producers who rig the market by mutual agreement through their action agency. But it all won't quite scald.

The consumer and the taxpayer is one and the same person, though perhaps under one role an individual might get soaked a little harder than in his other role. But he is still the same. And a competitive market ceases to be one when it is rigged by any interest, whether it be the government, the organized producers, or the organized dealers.

So it all shakes down to the issue of which interest shall be in charge of the public squeeze, and the question, whether the public-oriented government should hand all the power over to one of the several interests involved in the production, distribution and consumption of food. The public interest happens to be paramount because food is a vital necessity, as vital as air or water. Its control cannot ever wisely be handed over to any lesser interest whose principle concern is its own fat and happy state.

Sky Is Everybody's Limit

For each and every individual, the sky may well be the limit of his expectations but reality is not always so kind to us. We need to be not only ambitious but we must temper this with some degree of satisfaction with what we have. Dr. Paul Elicker, executive secretary, emeritus, of the National Association of Secondary School Principals, may have believed himself to be within these limits when he advocated a salary for teachers of from $10,000 to $15,000 a year.

But Dr. Elicker would find a great many people in disagreement with him. He noted that general medical practitioners in the Midwest make about $20,000 a year and that training is comparable between the two professions. However, one does not need to assume that the level of income within the medical profession is correct within the bounds of our social and economic order just because it is where it is.

The simple existence of such an income proves nothing one way or another. Many people will doubt that the average teacher today should be making from $10,000 to $15,000 a year. There are many people in many professions who do not make this much money, despite an educational background equivalent to teaching. It is ridiculous, of course, to try to settle on any firm salary figure as absolutely right or wrong for teachers.

There is the question of training or degrees, of ability, of experience, of locale, etc., all of which have an important bearing on income. Nor does it seem quite proper that we place such emphasis on salary in our judgment of the rewards of the teaching profession. Dr. Elicker, we fear, has left a lot unsaid and may be ahead of his time.

The New Delhi Question

When the World Council of Churches meets November 19 in New Delhi, India, one of its most agonizing questions will bear on the application of the Russian Orthodox Church for membership.

Russian communism denies the existence of God and salvation, disestablished the church in the first instance, and later restored it in small part, partly as a concession to the spiritual demands of the people, but mostly in an effort to use the church as an agency of government to divert the spiritual drive of the people to the uses of an atheistic society. That does not compose a good recommendation, especially when the membership-seeking hierarchy consists largely of communist puppets.

On the other hand all the churches of ancient origin have felt the blows of hostile materialism and have witnessed evil done in their name against which in the short range they could not prevail. But the same history shows that in the long run they won liberation while their adversaries went to dust. If there is any consistency in history in regard to spiritual matters these present communist puppets in the terms of Shakespeare will "strut and fret their hour upon the stage" and will be seen no more. Meantime, willingly or unwillingly they have had to keep the light lit in a part of the world that yearns for its gleam although the rulers find it too bright. That seems to be of the prime importance.

The question before New Delhi seems not one of choosing for or against association with a puppet hierarchy, but whether granting or refusing membership would be a consequential factor in the grand and timeless course of spiritual history.

Education Rift In Catholic Church?

WASHINGTON — The full hierarchy of the Roman Catholic church meets in Washington this week for the first time since John F. Kennedy became the nation's first Catholic president. The chief question on the minds of its more than 200 members will be the hierarchy's opposition to Kennedy on aid-to-education.

Many members favor an "agonizing reappraisal" of the blunt statement by Archbishop Karl J. Alter of Cincinnati on March 3 which represented an open break between the Catholic church and the first Catholic ever to become President of the United States.

Statements in "The Pilot" by Richard Cardinal Cushing, Kennedy's friend in Boston, have made it clear that there has been a rift in the church in regard to aid-to-education and that Archbishop Alter's statement went too far.

It did not go too far, however, for Cardinal Spellman of New York, the prelate who influenced Congressman James J. Delaney of New York to cast the deciding vote in the House Rules Committee which blocked all of Kennedy's education proposals. Spellman still appears to be adamant. And the schedule he has arranged for the two-day session in Washington may make it difficult for Cardinal Cushing and others to hold any "agonizing reappraisal."

Cardinal Spellman has announced that the hierarchy will attend in a body a mass to honor Pope John XXIII on the third anniversary of his coronation as pontiff and his approaching birthday. The coronation anniversary was Nov. 4 and the birthday is Nov. 25, but the prelates will honor Pope John on Wednesday morning, Nov. 15, at the national shrine of the Immaculate Conception here.

In addition to giving Spellman and Alter the top spots of honor, The Mass will take up the entire morning, thus telescoping the two-day session into one day and a half.

To understand the rift in the church over Kennedy's aid plan for education you have to go back to a momentous conference on March 2 in the quiet, austere building at 1300 Massachusetts Avenue whose windowless front is marked by Eugene Kormandy's statue, "Christ Is The Light Of The World."

Here are the offices of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, and here the angry Archbishop of Cincinnati, Most Rev. Karl J. Alter, issued a brief statement March 3 which not only put his brother prelates on record against President Kennedy's aid-to-education bill but was one of the boldest moves the hierarchy has ever made to enter the arena of politics.

Doubt JFK Help In Democratic Wins

WASHINGTON — Recent elections turned out well for the Democrats, so criticism of President Kennedy as leader of his party is muted. But it exists and it is the topic of much private discussions.

What happened is that the President did not intervene in New Jersey, New York or Texas until private polls paid for by the party showed that Democrats Hughes, Wagner and Gonzalez would win. By that time the hour was late, so the question of which one was the coattail rider was moot.

Also, the Kennedy intervention was somewhat less than fervent and, what was more galling, was patronizing. This has not been lost on Democrats with other battles to fight against odds.

They are asking why the President seems to have lost his sense of stewardship so fast.

By the nature of their office presidents are obliged to be selfish, and they must often placate their enemies with the favors they owe to their friends. Yet they cannot possibly build the loyalty of their own troops if it is known to all that they will help only those who have shown that no help is needed.

It is by now no secret that the bait which brought Kennedy to New Jersey was a poll showing that in mid-October Gov.-Elect Hughes was almost evenly matched with the Republican candidate, former Secretary of Labor Mitchell. Kennedy's presence was desired to cast luster on a rather dull campaign and inspire the party organization. The risk to him was slight, as Hughes had by his own efforts pulled up from underdog position. Even so, Kennedy hesitated almost until the end.

Mayor Wagner got a drive through the streets of New York. Yet his victory not only seemed assured but was essential to rebuilding the party in the biggest state to cope with a potential Republican nominee for president in 1964, Gov. Rockefeller.

☆ ☆ ☆

Rep.-elect Gonzales got a letter, though the President was actually in the vicinity. When it was released, White House Press Secretary Salinger was asked what would be done for Hughes, then panting down the same stretch alone. Salinger replied patronizingly that Hughes could have a letter "if he asked for it." The slow burn resulting from that remark has not yet healed in some quarters.

The President will soon set out on a western trip. First he will attend dinners for Senator Hayden in Arizona, who can be re-elected with only a showing of proof that he will be able to occupy his chair as chairman of the Appropriations Committee, and Senator Magnuson of Washington, against whom Republicans haven't even a candidate.

Then the President will proceed to California where Richard Nixon is certain to give Gov. Brown a tussle next year. It has been announced that the President will talk about foreign affairs.

Patchwork Prairie Country

A highlight of the past week that we enjoyed was the book fair in Lincoln. It's so seldom that we get away from the farm for an evening in the city. The bright neon signs and the traffic cop's whistle are excitement in themselves. It's quite a change of pace from the quiet byways of the country.

Blue Jeans and Sylvia with the golden hair went with us to hear Marguerite Henry talk of Misty and Bridie, the burro who lived in the Grand Canyon.

We added two new books to our small collection but it was the first books wherein the word "author" became meaningful:

I browsed among the books and would have been there still had not I been reminded that all good things must come to an end.

I hope it comes again next year. I think it is one of the most interesting exhibits ever brought to our area. Should it come again, we shall be in the front row, center.

☆ ☆ ☆

One night in the metropolis calls for another. When The Farmer saw the advertisement for the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus, he suggested we take that in, too—much to the immediate approval of Blue Jeans and Sylvia.

Does anyone ever get too old to enjoy a circus? And it was the first circus for me. Up until then, my knowledge of the circus had come with the turning of a TV dial.

The Farmer thought a live circus performance just as essential to a well-rounded education as a tour of the book fair. Personally I think he felt I could never learn any younger the excitement and hilarity of the Big Top. Or maybe he didn't relish the idea that his wife had never been to a circus.

It was that way with the State Fair. For years when people would speak of the fair, I would always say, "I've never been to the State Fair so of course I wouldn't have the least idea about it." After a number of years of hearing me make the same statement, The Farmer suddenly said, "Let's go to the State Fair." We went and have been back several times since that time.

It could be he had heard me say as I watched a television performance, "I've never been to a circus but it must be exciting." And at last some unknown Freudian theory came to light where it had secretly been suggesting The Farmer take his wife to the circus.

I've never been to an opera or ballet. Maybe if I begin working on that now, within the next decade I will be sitting front row, center, there, watching a performance.

The football season has come to a close, another sign that we are moving into a new season — basketball and Junior Class plays. Before we have time to know what has happened, Christmas will be here.

Christmas toys and decorations now are displayed in the stores. Several stores are playing Christmas music. It really doesn't put one in the mood this early in the season. After the Thanksgiving turkey has been digested, my thoughts are better directed toward Christmas feasting.

Dead Ducks

Wilber, Neb.

Two Republicans opened fire on President Kennedy some time ago. Eisenhower did so in the East to revitalize his party, but failed. And Sen. Hruska in the Middle West was strongly critical of a statement by President Kennedy on the Berlin problem. The senator should give the President time to act. He has been in office only a few months, not eight years. Hruska should have spoken his little piece while the Republicans were in office. If that administration had done something about this Berlin problem, we wouldn't be in this mess nor have lost our prestige in Europe and the rest of the world.

Eisenhower stated in the East that the Cuban invasion was a stupid blunder. If Eisenhower had tended to his official business in the White House instead of playing golf and making trips to his farm, he could have prohibited the invasion of Cuba by Castro. That was Ike's stupid blunder.

Eisenhower also stated that Kennedy's administration is a spendthrift one. Mr. Eisenhower also spent a few bucks while in office and not all for the protection of this country as the President is now doing. Nor did Ike balance the budget as he promised.

And again Eisenhower also criticized the President's space program, calling it a "stunt." Russia pulled off the same "stunt" and has shown the world that she is far superior to the U.S. in the space program, causing fear among all nations.

There is no use for Eisenhower to try to revitalize the Republican party as he intended. They did their bit in the past eight years and now are devitalized, as the elections in the East have shown. In other words, they are dead ducks.

Driver's Test

Lincoln, Neb.

In a recent article in The Lincoln Star, it was stated that drivers who missed the deadline for renewing their driver's license in taking a re-examination brought out the fact that 25 persons out of 55 did not qualify in some fashion. Now, it is true, of course, that if it were some ignorance of the law, they could study it and then pass the requirement to obtain a license. However, it should be pointed out that until such time as they took the examination, they were ignorant of the law, unless they did not qualify physically. In either case, they should not have had the privilege of driving an automobile on the highways.

If out of these 55 people, we find that almost 50 per cent did not qualify and if they had known they would not have qualified, they would have made an extra effort to renew their licenses before the deadline. How many of the thousands of people in Lancaster County who would renew their driver's license before the deadline were not qualified in some fashion?

Will the journalistic trade and the people of this state now see fit to put pressure on our governor and legislative body to pass a driver's re-examination bill in the next session before our death rate starts climbing at a faster pace?

Interference

Omaha, Neb.

This is to remind the Washington representative of the American Association of University Professors that Nebraska is a sovereign state, that Wayne State Teachers College is a creature of that sovereign authority, and that most of the people of the state of Nebraska in which the state's sovereignity resides resent their interference in an educational matter that is really none of their business.

It is recommended that their representative pack his bags and leave the state. Also, that any plans that his organization has of doing any investigating should be dropped because it has no authority to do so, and that if any investigating is to be done, the state legislature can do it.

In fact, I shall personally write every state senator in the state recommending that the activities of the American Association of University Professors in the state be investigated if they continue to interfere in a matter of a local nature. And even if they don't, the question of what they have done and are planning to do in regard to the affair at Wayne State Teachers College should be looked into.

Nebraska

Miami, Fla.

Nebraskans are lucky to live in such a beautiful part of the country. After having lived in Lincoln nearly 68 years and my parents before me, I think there is no place, not even Miami, that can ever hope to capture the climate and fresh clean living that Nebraska affords.

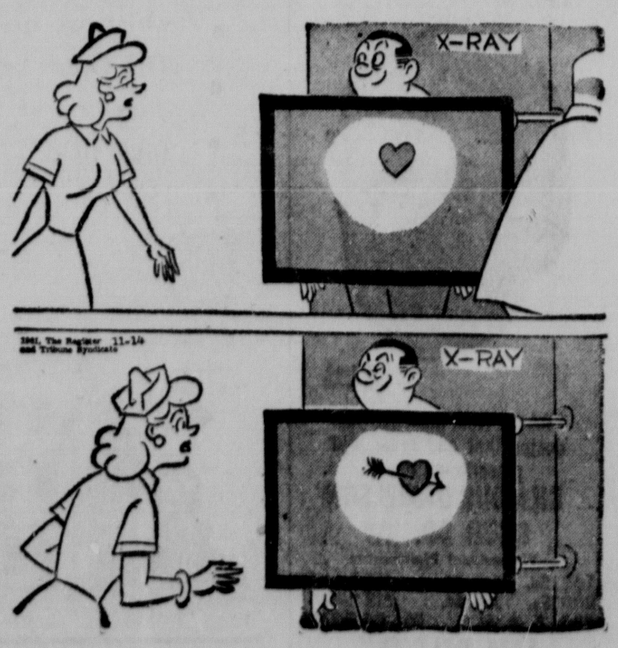

May I add that The Lincoln Star is the best newspaper anywhere and I'm proud of it.

My verse expresses my thoughts.

'Tis fall again in Nebraska climes,
Through painted sighs with vivid hues,
All brown and red with colors bright,
This is the "autumn" that I choose.
Ah, yes, with dying things and falling leaves,
A land of jeweled frost and snow,
Old winter's signs of cooler breeze,
Engulfed in glorious sunset glow.
Is fall a symphony of regret
That teases in the winter chill
With winds and sleet and air that's good?
I would not change it if I could
Nor stay the frost, and trees all nude,
Ah, no! This is winter's interlude!

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

This Vegetarian Is Famed And Respected Doctor

By ROBERT PETERSON

Most vegetarians are regarded by physicians as being a bit peculiar. But a man generally acclaimed as one of the world's greatest physicians is not only a vegetarian but a respected member of the American Medical Association.

He's 81-year-old Dr. Harry Willis Miller who, as a young man, was physician to such big names as Alexander Graham Bell, William Jennings Bryan, and Woodrow Wilson. Later, he was head of Washington Sanitarium in the Nation's Capitol, and then for the next 30 years was a medical missionary to China.

During his brilliant years in the Orient he developed soy milk as a satisfactory substitute for animal milk, and won an international reputation as the world's foremost thyroid surgeon. These days you'll find him working 10 and 12 hours a day as a medical consultant and lecturer here and in the Far East.

"Do you really believe vegetarians enjoy better health than us meat eaters?" I asked this famed physician when I met him in New York City recently.

"Yes, I do," he replied firmly. "The evidence isn't fully conclusive, but it's accumulating rapidly. The most significant evidence is that assembled recently by the U.S. Public Health Office in its study of the health records of approximately 10,000 Adventists—most of whom are vegetarians.

"The evidence was conclusive in showing that Adventists suffer approximately 50 per cent less heart disease than the general public. I happen to be an Adventist myself, and am well aware that those of my faith spurn alcohol, tobacco, coffee, and tea, and practice moderation in all things. These factors probably influence the low incidence of heart disease, but I think the absence of meat in our diets has a great deal to do with it, too."

I asked about his personal diet. "For breakfast I have either oatmeal or cracked wheat, served with fat free milk and some whole wheat toast with perhaps some jelly. For luncheon I have a meatless steak or cutlet and soy milk beverage, which gives me the protein I need. In the evening I have vegetable soup, toast, fruits, and a decaffeinated hot drink."

His reference to "meatless steak" aroused my curiosity, and he explained that his culinary paradox does indeed exist. I have since learned from other sources that Dr. Miller is one of the real pioneers in vegetable food processing having developed in Arlington, California — at the age of 70 — one of the world's first food processing firms for making meatless steaks, shops and cutlets from vegetable products.

"I'm in firm agreement with those who say people do not die — they kill themselves," concluded the good doctor. "Over the years I've encountered countless patients in hospitals all over the world who had, in my opinion, created their own physical wreckage by eating too much rich, fatty food and by failing to get enough rest and mild exercise."

Dr. Miller — tall, erect, alert, and in vibrant physical trim — is a splendid advertisemnt for the soundness of his health and nutrition habits. Most of his contemporaries have long since turned their backs on purposeful work and retired to their rockers. But octogenarian Miller left the States yesterday on a jet bound for Hong Kong where he will spend two months supervising construction of a new hospital.

'NRI Promotes Industry 3 Ways'

Nebraska's industrial development can be promoted in 3 ways by the new Nebraska Research Institute, State Sen. Joe Vosoba said Monday.

The Wilber senator, who introduced the legislation which created the NRI, told the Lincoln Area Industrial Development Committee the institute will:

—improve the business climate.

—help attract new industry to the state.

—Help existing Nebraska industries expand.

Vosoba pointed out that these goals can be accomplished without interfering with private research firms in the state.

Lewis E. Harris, president of Harris Laboratories and Norden Laboratories in Lincoln, told the group that private research companies can also contribute in promoting industry.

"We believe research facilities can provide services to industries which might be attracted to this area; if this service is called to the attention of industry, it will aid in attracting them (industry)."

Harris said Nebraska firms have been slow to use private research laboratories, primarily because they have had little information on them.

He outlined the functions of the Harris Laboratories, which conduct research, development and testing projects for various industries throughout the country.

NRI directors are studying possibilities of financial support since the Legislature provided no funds when they established the NRI, according to Vosoba.

He said the institute probably should be located in Lincoln with access to the University of Nebraska, but the committee has designated no specific sites.

Injunction Blocks Election On 27 School Districts' Merger

Lincoln Star Special

Wilber — A permanent injunction blocking an election on the proposed consolidation of 27 school districts in Saline, Seward and Lancaster Counties was granted Monday.

District Judge Edmund P. Nuss of Hastings issued the order after an all-day hearing.

Saline County Superintendent Dewey Ganzel said it would be appealed to the Nebraska Supreme Court.

The reorganization was proposed by the Saline County School Redistricting Committee.

One of the reasons for the permanent injunction was the appointment to the committee of Lancaster County residents. The court held that the Saline committee lacked the power to make such appointments.

The election originally was scheduled for July 11, but was blocked by a temporary restraining order obtained by some Lancaster districts and individual objectors.

The Plaintiffs

Plaintiffs in the action included Jerome Warner, Elmer L. Christensen, Owen C. Perry, Robert Graff, Carl Christian, L. C. Geis, Donald Baughman, Frank L. Rejcha, Henry Bruns and Edward Kasl.

The proposed merger would have produced a district with about 1,300 students and a valuation of about $14 million. Crete would have been the key district. Crete district valuation now is about $4.5 million.

If a Supreme Court appeal is not successful, the Saline committee might reorganize with members from each of the 3 counties, appointed by the counties, rather than the Saline committee.

Other school redistricting matters were intertwined with the one decided Monday, and still may not be resolved until the appeal procedure has been completed.

Ten of the 11 Lancaster districts included in the Saline plan have petitioned for dissolution and attachment to the Crete district.

Lancaster Superintendent Glenn Turner has signed the orders for 6 of these districts — 42, 70, 130, 136, 144 and 156 — but they also must be signed by Ganzel.

He had declined to sign them prior to Monday's hearing, fearing such an action might jeopardize his position in the injunction proceeding.

Big Blast At Plattsmouth

Plattsmouth (AP) — Mrs. Clifford Johnson and her 3 sons, aged 14, 11 and 8, narrowly escaped death late Monday afternoon when a gas explosion blew two gaping holes in the east wall of their home.

Sheriff Tom Solomon said a leak apparently developed in the wall where a line from a storage tank entered the residence, causing gas to accumulate.

The force of the blast sent cement blocks flying both inside and outside the house. Mrs. Johnson was hit on the arm by one block but was not seriously injured.

The Johnson home is located about a mile south of Plattsmouth. The force of the blast was so great that the concussion was felt at the Emmett Rice home 100 yards away.

TOP FINNS WILL STUDY DEMAND

Helsinki, Finland (AP) — Premier Matti Miettunen will confer with parliament leaders Tuesday on Russia's demand that Finland join in defense measures against what the Soviet Union calls a West German military threat.

Miettunen held two cabinet sessions during the day and met with President Urho Kekkonen and Foreign Minister Ahti Karjalainon on the results of Karjalainon's fact-finding trip to Moscow last week.

The Russian demand in an Oct. 30 note appeared to be the initial step toward bringing neutral Finland in line with the Warsaw Pact military bloc.

Mrs. E. Halligan of Nebraska serves this easy "upside-down" cake to surprise guests: One-layer-size white cake mix, prepared per package directions, poured over a mixture of 1 cup applesauce, 2 cups coconut, ½ cup light raisins, ½ cup brown sugar and ¼ cup butter in a deep cake pan, greased, 9 inches square. Sounds good and gooey, doesn't it?

FRAME-UP

Scout out an old picture frame from your attic; give it a coat of white paint. Cut a piece of plywood to fit. Paint it bright. Attach plywood (color-side-up) to luggage rack. Trim top with a "winning hand" of playing cards, glued in fan shape. Now put picture frame and glass on top. Isn't that a stunning table!

DATE MATE

Look! A cookie-filling recipe for "holibakers," from Mrs. H. H. Kirkpatrick of Sioux City, Iowa: Combine 2 cups fine-chopped dates, ¾ cup sugar, ¾ cup water and ½ tsp. lemon juice in saucepan. Cook over moderate gas heat, stirring constantly till thick. Remove from range; add ½ cup chopped nuts. Cool slightly. Plant it, by half-teaspoon, between rolled, unbaked cookies. Seal edges with fork; bake 8 to 10 minutes in 400-degree gas oven. (Fills five dozen.)

SWEETER BREATHING

Whether heat's on or not, you can cure a "stuffy" room without opening the windows—if you own a modern gas heating system! The blower on your gas furnace sends air into circulation, changing it constantly. It's clean, pure air — a happy no-dust atmosphere for holiday-minded homemakers! You could own a new gas heating system before Thanksgiving. Phone your local gas company or gas heating contractor.

CORNER THIS

PINKY PATCHES

Another Iowan (Mrs. Allen Haleen of Boone) says iron-on tape patches stay better if you cut them with pinking shears. This set me thinking. Wouldn't "pinking" patches, in pretty colors, be a gay touch for a set of white linen place-mats?

STEPPING HIGH

I knew a wooden stool, weathered from years in the kitchen. Smart owner painted it white, cushioned each step in red velvet, finished it off with gold ric-rac. Now it stands by the Christmas tree annually, to collect steps-full of packages. (Compliments, too!)

CHRISTMAS CANDLE

Sleek and silent as a candle . . . that's the tiny blue gas flame that controls "even cold", in your gas refrigerator! The only moving part? A small circulation fan for automatic defrosting. Same tiny blue flame does so many homemaking jobs better, and more economically. Tell Santa Claus about it! Remind him natural gas is sent to your home 365 days a year by your local gas company, supplied to your town by the pipelines of Northern Natural Gas Company.

IN A HURRY? HAVE LUNCH IN GOLD'S NEW DUTCH TREAT BASEMENT!

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

Mr. Newton Minow issues licenses to TV stations. So when he issued a statement that TV fodder was pretty awful, the TV people ground their teeth.

But kept their mouths shut.

Mr. Minow said for-the-love-of-Pete, ALL you could see on TV was people scragging other people. Cowboys shooting cowboys. Indians shooting everybody.

"How about another plot or two?" said Mr. Minow in effect.

Nevertheless, we have bought a new TV set. Hoping for better plots and better times.

The old set developed hiccups. The picture went flipping past like one of those old picture books—the kind where you let the pages run past your thumb very fast and it looked like a movie. Only this was like letting it run slow.

Also it caught on fire at times—I threw water on it and it made a sizzling noise.

The TV man came. He said:

"If you had touched that set, it would have been curtains. Katy, bar the door. That's all, brother."

He disconnected the lethal thing. And we put in a new set.

Only the name has been changed to protect the innocent. The same old plots come over my new TV.

"Slade, the foreman, has been rustlin' yore cattle, ma'am. I am sorry to tell you this. For I fully realize he was trusted by your late, lamented father, the well-known rancher."

The chick gives him a haughty glance:

"I do not believe a word you say. The banker says you were seen cutting a calf or two out of my herd. And I have learned you just got out of jail."

"I was framed, ma'am. As for the calf, I was seen with last night, I was directing it to the nearest SPCA office."

The screen then brightens. A man is shown. He is downcast because he has a terrible headache. (Or maybe a hangover—he looks like a lush to me.)

The man is then shown in diagram.

No wonder he has a headache! Instead of brains, he has a hollow head. Inside his head in one compartment, there is a hammer beating. In the second compartment, springs are going up and down.

The 3rd compartment has kind of lightning, electric flashes—a good deal like what must have gone on in my old TV when it began to smoke.

If you touched this critter, it would probably be curtains for you Katy, bar the door.

Now, if you drop aspirin in this person's stomach, it sets up relief for the hammers. But the flashes and springs keep on giving him fits.

You can drop in other goodies, they take care of the springs.

"But ONLY Gooberin gives quick, fast relief!" says the announcer.

He drops Gooberin in the poor, brainless creature. Presto! The hammers, springs and flashes cease.

The man is shown. He has nothing in his skull now at all. He is happy.

Back to the ranch: The foreman is caught in the act.

The banker turns out to be a high-binder.

The Stranger is pardoned for what he went to jail for. And the Governor begs his pardon.

The chick realizes her Mistake. She marries the Stranger. (Who, I think, does not realize the mistake HE is making. Better he should take Gooberin.)

No wonder the old TV went up in smoke.

Convert Army

London (UPI)—The Sunday Express said the government plans to convert Britain's army into a "flying fire brigade" next year.

Uncommon Cold May Result In Vaccine

Detroit (AP) — New clues to a sort of uncommon cold — one linked with wracking croup in children and runny noses in adults — may lead to a protective vaccine, a scientist said Monday.

A newly discovered trio of viruses that strike adults with coldlike symptoms have now been found in 6 to 19 per cent of the respiratory illness of children.

The influenza-like viruses—called para-influenza 1, 2 and 3, — were found in 6% of 4,676 children with respiratory illnesses, said Dr. Robert H. Parrott of Children's Hospital, Washington.

And evidence of the virus was found in 19% of another group of children hospitalized with such illnesses.

"A vast majority of adults have been infected at least once," Dr. Parrott told a session of the annual American Public Health Association meeting.

Both children and adults can be reinfected with the viruses, but the body does manufacture protective antibodies that can prevent serious illness — and may even protect against illness.

A potent vaccine could theoretically prevent much of the serious respiratory illness in children, Dr. Parrott said. And with frequent vaccination, it might even be possible to reduce the colds that result from later reinfection.

All three viruses can cause more severe infections like the croup.

In another session, doctors discussed the new measles vaccine and the possibility that it may eradicate the disease.

Dr. Alexander D. Langmuir, of the Public Health Service's Communicable Disease Center, said doctors had long been reconciled to living with the measles virus.

Attorney General Declares Antitrust Acts Pro-Business

New York (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy Monday night called federal antitrust laws "pro-business."

He told some 1,300 businessmen at a dinner of the Economic Club of New York:

"There is talk that enforcement of the antitrust laws is evidence that this administration is antibusiness . . . I look upon the antitrust laws as being pro-business."

Kennedy said the laws are designed for the protection of large and small businesses, as well as the public. Of 439 antitrust complaints thus far this year, he continued, almost 300 have come from businessmen.

Not Just Small

"Complaints have not come just from small or middle-class businessmen," Kennedy declared, "but from big business as well. The history of antitrust enforcement shows that successful antitrust prosecutions have often strengthened and brought vitality to extremely large companies and businesses."

Only about 5% of the complaints received require legal action, President Kennedy's brother told the businessmen. Many are settled voluntarily, he added.

Much criticism has centered around Justice Department opposition to business mergers, Kennedy said. But he contended that only 11 antimerger cases were filed in the first 8 months of this year, while 757 mergers were recorded.

Furthermore, Kennedy continued, the Justice Department, when asked, is willing to indicate in advance approval or disapproval of mergers, so that litigation may be avoided.

Present powers of his antitrust division will not be abused, Kennedy promised, adding:

"In other words, there has not been and will not be any harassment."

As for price-fixing conspiracies, Kennedy said:

"This is a field which is of particular concern to me. The sad truth is that although price-fixing conspiracies are the exception rather than the rule, in almost every major community in the country, a number of businessmen have conspired or are conspiring in secret not only to fix prices but to make collusive deals with union officials, defraud their customers and even in some instances cheat their own government."

The attorney general called such businessmen no different than "the racketeer who siphons off money from the public in crooked gambling, or the union official who betrays his union members."

Terry Huntingdon . . . ex beauty queen.

ATTORNEY SAYS:

Onetime Beauty Queen Was Well-Paid Call Girl

Los Angeles (AP)—An attorney charged Monday that onetime beauty queen Terry Huntingdon was "a professional and well-paid call girl, earning as much as $6,000 for one of her social services."

Miss Huntingdon, plaintiff in a paternity suit filed against Hollywood lawyer Arthur J. Crowley, sobbed and dabbed at her eyes with a handkerchief as the call-girl accusation was made.

She says Crowley fathered her child, expected in April. He admits having been intimate with her but denies having relations with her in the period when the unborn child was conceived.

Crowley's law partner, Harold Rhoden, told superior court Monday that Miss Huntingdon was intimate in July with hairdresser William Wright, who introduced the young starlet to Houston millionaire John Austin.

Rhoden said Austin gave her $6,300 for a sports car after dating her.

Miss Huntingdon's attorney, Paul Caruso, called the charges "the vilest statements I have heard in my entire life," denied them, and challenged Rhoden to repeat them outside the court, where legal immunity does not exist.

Crowley said Miss Huntingdon kept diaries of her love affairs and asked that she be forced to produce them.

The charge was made in a declaration filed with the court, which is seeking to determine if Miss Huntingdon should be paid temporary support pending actual trial of her suit.

Crowley's declaration asked that the support hearing be continued until after the birth of the child. He said he had a rare blood type and that tests would prove that he could not have fathered the child.

The court declined to continue the matter until April and set the next hearing for Jan. 20.

Miss Huntingdon, 21, was Miss USA at the 1959 Miss Universe pageant in Long Beach.

Gen. White Replacing Spaatz On Newsweek

New York (UPI) — Former Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Thomas D. White joined Newsweek magazine as military affairs analyst and consultant on national security subjects.

In announcing White's appointment, Newsweek board Chairman Philip L. Graham revealed that Gen. Carl Spaatz, U.S.A.F. (ret.), will relinquish his post as the magazine's military affairs expert.

The announcement said Spaatz had asked some time ago to be relieved of his magazine duties to write an autobiographical history of American air power.

White retired from the Air Force June 30.

BAY STATE BANS 'TROPIC OF CANCER'

Boston (UPI) — The controversial novel "Tropic of Cancer" was banned in Massachusetts Monday.

Superior Court Judge Lewis Goldberg described Henry Miller's story about an American in Paris as "obscene, indecent and impure."

The judge's ruling resulted from a 3-day trial in September during which State Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr., urged that sale of the book be prohibited.

Judge Goldberg said the novel published by Grove Press Inc., contains "no connected plot."

"It is largely the tale of the sex experiences of an American in Paris who went to that city in the hope of becoming a writer and who, except on a few occasions, lived the life of a down and outter, sponging on friends and acquaintances," the judge said.

U.N. Delegates Attack South Africa's Policies

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — United Nations delegates Monday night voted condemnation of South Africa's white supremacy policies in two resolutions that threatened boycotts and possible expulsion as punishment.

The U.N. Assembly Special Political Committee first adopted a 31-nation resolution calling for the Security Council to consider expulsion of South Africa and demanding a complete diplomatic and trade break that would isolate South Africa from the world.

The vote on the resolution as a whole 55-26 with 20 abstentions.

But the expulsion and sanctions clauses were carried only by simple majorities and the probability was that they would be knocked out in the assembly voting where a two-thirds majority is needed.

The committee then went on to vote 72-2 with 27 abstentions approving an 8-power milder resolution that originally called only for countries to take singly or collectively boycott measures against South Africa if they wished to.

Only South Africa and Portugal voted against it.

But the United States, Britain, France and others abstained because the committee inserted into the original resolution 3 amendments that have sharp teeth.

An Ethiopian amendment was approved to turn the whole question over to the Security Council for consideration of what measures might be taken against South Africa. A Soviet amendment for an arms embargo and a Pakistan amendment for an oil embargo also were approved by simple majorities.

The big Western powers announced before hand that they would abstain in the voting if those amendments were approved.

The condemnation of South Africa in the committee vote fell short of the 87-1 denunciation voted by the assembly at its last session. There were 10 abstentions at that time. The United States then voted for the first time for condemnation of South Africa.

At that time South Africa was the only country to vote against the denunciation. This year Portugal, under attack from the Asian-African group for its administration of African Angola, joined South Africa in opposing the broad stand of the assembly. Portugal asserted that it opposes race discrimination but rejects any right of the United Nations to interfere inside any members nation's borders.

If the Ethiopian, Soviet and Pakistan proposals fail in the assembly voting for want of a two-thirds majority, the 8-power resolution is expected to attract the United States and a number of other countries back out of the abstention column to full support.

Toy Plastic Car Becomes Lodged In Boy's Throat

The one-year-old son of Philip Brey was rushed to Lincoln from his home in Raymond Monday morning after a toy plastic car became lodged in his throat.

The boy was brought to the fire department by Brey and oxygen was administered by means of a respirator until a physician arrived. He ordered the boy transferred to St. Elizabeth Hospital where the toy was removed.

The boy's condition was termed good Monday evening.

Demos Level 'Rockymandering' Charge

Washington (UPI) — The Democrats Monday accused New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of committing "political larceny in the robber baron tradition" by promoting the gerrymandering of New York Congressional districts to favor Republicans.

"Your granddad would have been proud of you, Nelson," Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey said in a statement released at a news conference at Democratic headquarters.

Bailey said he wanted the country to be aware of the action by a special session of the New York legislature which, he said, enacted a "rockymandering" of the Congressional seats despite the fact that last year Democratic Congressional candidates outpolled Republicans.

Made Clear

Bailey made it clear that Democratic leaders in Washington, from the White House down, will support Mayor Robert F. Wagner in his effort to have the New York redistricting "set aside." He said he understood Wagner already had filed suit through his corporation counsel to overturn the legislative decision.

He also said that in the reorganization of New York state Democratic leadership following last week's mayoralty election "we here will look to Mayor Wagner for leadership."

Bailey indicated he would see Wagner during a current Washington visit by the mayor. He also underscored his previously expressed opinion that New York should have a new Democratic state chairman to succeed Michael Prendergast.

Factual Report

Bailey said the Democratic National Committee will send a "complete factual report on the recent gerrymandering of the New York Congressional districts to all of the voters of the state of New York."

He called the legislative action a "Republican conspiracy to inflict upon the president a legislative stab in the back."

He also said that "Rockefeller must have known that it would not smell like a rose" because he rushed it through a special session before the legislators or the public could study the proposal.

Bailey said that "under pressure from Rockefeller and the Republican National Chairman William Miller" the GOP hopes to shift the New York delegation of 22 Democrats and 21 Republicans into a delegation of 25 Republicans and 16 Democrats.

"We believe Gov. Rockefeller, by inspiring and demanding legislative decimation of the Democratic Congressional delegation, went far beyond the decent boundaries of normal political expediency," Bailey said.

"We consder this assault on equal opportunity an example of political larceny in the robber baron tradition."

He said Rockefeller put his "own prestige and money and his party's performance on the line" in a plea for votes in New York City and New Jersey last week but the voters rejected him.

Differed

Bailey said the New York redistricting by Republicans differed from the action of California Democrats in picking up all 8 new seats in that state because there were public hearings over the state in California and a Republican majority in the legislature voted for the redistricting plan.

"In New York, not one Democrat in the house or senate voted for the redistricting and the plan was drawn up in complete secrecy and not shown to anyone," he said.

In some other states with redistricting problems, Bailey said final decisions are still being worked out. He said Pennsylvania Gov. David L. Lawrence told him he thinks that state will reach some agreement, after which Lawrence will call a special session. He said the problem is still being worked on in Illinois and Massachusetts.

Korean Revolt Boss In U.S. To Visit Kennedy

Washington (AP)—Gen. Chung Hee Park flew here Monday for talks with President Kennedy and his top adivsers on South Korea's economic development and security.

The 44-year-old leader of the Korean revolutionary junta, who took power 6 months ago, arrived at National Airport at 4 p.m.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk, joined by Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, headed the welcoming delegation.

Recalls Sacrifices

In a statement, Park recalled the American sacrifices in the Korean War.

"We shall repay the United States and other free world allies for their support and assistance by reconstructing our nation to make it a better place for our people to live in," he said. "Doing this, I feel, will enable us to fulfill our responsibilities more effectively as a member of the free world."

The red-carpet treatment for Park was in sharp contrast to the coolness with which the United States reacted to the junta seizure of power last May 16.

Won Approval

His drive against corruption in government and other réforms plus plans for economic development have gradually won U.S. approval for the new regime.

Johnson expressed hope that during the Korean leader's visit he "will sense the deep feeling we have for your country and your countrymen, adding:

"May this visit serve to increase the mutual understanding, purpose and friendship between your country and mine."

Johnson said there are many ties of personal friendship between Americans and Koreans that were born of "suffering, common purpose and common achievement."

Freeman Bids For Advances

Madison, Wis. (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman declared Monday that this is the time to move boldly forward rather than to retreat on the Kennedy administration farm supply control programs.

The secretary said retreat is being advocated by some who claim these programs are placing too heavy a burden on the federal budget and taxpayers. The truth is, he said, the programs will cost less than those in effect under the Eisenhower administration.

Those advocating retreat, Freeman said, are the same men who "presided over the futility of the 50s in farm policy."

Freeman made his comments in a speech at a White House regional conference attended by a number of administration leaders. He flew here from Washington during the day.

More action must be taken, the secretary said, to improve a farm income situation "that has inflicted unfair hardship" on farmers.

Freeman said there were 3 general courses of action open to government.

One: withdraw completely from agriculture. Two: return to programs of the Eisenhower administration—programs which sought to minimize government intervention in farming. Three: bring farm production into balance with markets to assure farmers a fair income and to eliminate surplus.

The first, Freeman said, would cut farm income more than a third. The second, he said, would pile up more unneeded surpluses.

The third would reduce farm program costs perhaps a billion dollars a year by 1967. The Eisenhower type programs, he said, could add a million a year by 1967.

This year's feed grain program is successfully reducing surpluses and costs, Freeman said. He predicted success for similar wheat and food grain programs for 1962.

President Nasser Announces Shifts

Cairo (AP)—President Nasser Monday night announced changes among provincial governors who administer regional affairs.

He fired 4 governors, reshuffled 4 others and filled in one vacancy.

Nasser also created 3 new governorates. This brings the total number of governorates to 24.

No official reason was given for the changes.

Tense Nerves Block Bowels

New tonic-tablet laxative acts directly on tense colonic nerves...de-constipates overnight.

The walls of your colon contain nerves known to medicine as Auerbach's Plexus. In regular people, these nerves tell the colon muscles to propel and expel waste from the body.

But, when you're tense, these nerves telegraph too many contracting or squeezing impulses. Then your colon muscles bind dry, shrunken colon contents in a powerful, unyielding grip.

Relief, doctors say, lies in the non-irritating, de-constipating principle of a new tonic-tablet called COLONAID. Of all laxatives, only COLONAID gives you its special 3-way overnight relief for tension-caused constipation.

(1) COLONAID stimulates your colonic nerve network, to activate and regularize its muscular "movement". (2) COLONAID's unequalled re-bulking action re-tones tense colon muscles (3) COLONAID moisturizes for easy passage without pain or strain.

COLONAID relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital-proved safe even for expectant mothers. Get COLONAID today. INTRODUCTORY SIZE 43¢

Dear Abby—

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: In our class at school we got into a big discussion about "tattling" and we would like to know how you feel about the subject. Thank you.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

DEAR STUDENTS: For some reason, teachers and even parents teach young people that it is "unethical" or downright disgraceful for one child to tell someone in authority that another child has disobeyed, misbehaved or even broken the law. Is it any wonder we have hoodlums and vandals who count it a virtue not to "squeal"?

This is not to be confused with running to Mamma or the teacher with, "Johnny hit me!" If children are to grow up with a sense of civic duty, they cannot be taught that it is "noble" to remain silent when they know who has destroyed public property or committed other serious anti-social acts. (It is their parents who must pay for such deeds.) Also it is unfair that a guilty child should "get by" unpunished; the next time he will try something a little bolder. I think it is time we adults reviewed out attitude on "tattling."

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: When my husband and I rented this apartment, we specifically asked if we could keep our dog with us. The landlord said, "Yes, if the dog is quiet and well-behaved." Our dog IS quiet and well-behaved unless a stranger comes around. We have been here less than a month and the landlord tells us we can't keep our dog. He said, "You have a full-grown boxer, and to me a boxer is not a dog,' but a 'poney'." We signed a year's lease and like this place. Can he make us move? And is a boxer a dog or a horse?

JUST MOVED IN

DEAR JUST: If your boxer raises Ned whenever a "stranger comes around," he is being far from "quiet and well-behaved." You don't need a dictionary, you need a lawyer.

Sorority Plans Annual Bazaar

It was an evening of busy fingers and "flying" needles Monday evening when the alumnae of Sigma Kappa sorority met at the home of Mrs. John Binning to work on preparations for the organization's annual Christmas Gift bazaar.

The bazaar, which is a benefit for the sorority's philanthropic projects, will be held at the chapter house on Tuesday, Nov. 28.

Pictured with a few of the articles and decorations which will be featured at the bazaar are (from the left) Miss Pat O'Brien, Mrs. Charles Shuler, Mrs. C. M. Downs, and Mrs. Binning.

EASTRIDGE

Houseguests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Hedge recently were Mrs. Hedge's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bates.

Meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Peterson for dessert and b Friday evening were and Mrs. Loyal Payn and Mrs. Herbert Ki Mr. and Mrs. Jim Ha Mr. and Mrs. John Birch, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Thompson.

Eastridge newcomers this week are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Yonke and their grandson, Robert, who have moved to 360 Eastridge from Denver, Colo. The Yonkes, however, are quite familiar with southeast Nebraska and Lincoln as they previously lived in Wilber for a number of years. Robert, who is 12, will be in the seventh grade at St. Teresa's Junior High School.

New residents at 701 Mulder Drive are Mr. and Mrs. Guy R. Holliday, who moved from 829 No. 29th on Nov. 1. Mr. and Mrs. Holliday have three children, Jeff, who is three years old, Laura, who is nineteen months, and Greg, who is four months.

Little Tommy Hicks, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hicks, was four years old last Monday, but saved the major portion of his birthday celebration for the weekend. Saturday, a birthday luncheon with a circus theme provided the most interesting note of Tommy's day. On hand for the festivities were Wendy and Michael Gartner, Ginny Freeman, Colleen McQuillen, Jeannie Ohrvall, and Brad Cole.

That was not the end of the birthday celebration however for Sunday brought the arrival of Tommy's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Hicks, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pilling, all of Omaha, as well as Tommy's great-aunts, Mrs. Gentry Reasonover of Denver, Colo. and Miss Ruth Pilling of Omaha, and his uncle, Robert Pilling, also of Omaha. Needless to say, Sunday dinner was an apt and pleasant ending for Tommy's birthday celebration this year!

CHATTER in the CORRIDOR

BY MARY PAT SULLIVAN

Good morning from Pius!

"Don't Take My Penny," a play in three acts by Anne Coulter Martens, will be the Junior Class Play to be given November 17 and 18 in the Pius X Central High School auditorium at 8:00 P.M. "Don't Take My Penny" is considered the most popular comedy for teenagers.

The double cast stars Lynn Robinson and Janet Sweet as Penny, a pretty little miss. Sally, the maid, is played by Betsy White and Pat Clinch. Norman Porter, a publicity man, is portrayed by John Ceraolo, and Larry Abbott is Caleb, Penny's father. The part of Mark will be done by Bob Caster and Rick McManaman. Other members of the cast are Bernie Rempe as Harrison Day, John Morris as Red, Sue Mahoney and Judy Polak as Lucille; Kathy Glynn and Betty Miller as Elsie; Connie Breitfelder and Kathy O'Brien as Claire; Mary Jo McDonnell and Judy Svoboda as Gram; Kathy Sparks and Betty DeMars as Joanna; Mary Pat Hanigan and Rose-Mary Chace as Lydia, and Bev Armstrong and Cheryl McQuillen as Mavis. The part of Greg will be portrayed by Verne Felton; that of Kerry by Jim Ganser, and Joe Schroer will be Monsieur Henri.

The student directors for the play are Mary Jane Beals, Linda Spaulding, Nona Rogers and Susan Hanlon. Reserved adult admission tickets may be obtained from any Pius X student. General admission tickets for adults and students may be purchased at the door.

Excitement, fun, serious study, hard work, and cooperation are the characteristics of presenting a class play. Sister Agnes Richarda, iderctor, feels certain that this year's play will be a great success.

That's all for now, see you next week!

Opening lead — six of diamonds.

It's easy enough to make seven diamonds in this deal if you see all four hands. All you have to do is avoid the pitfall of taking the club finesse and losing to the doubleton queen.

But if you're sitting South and don't see the East-West cards, the task is much harder. Let's look at how declarer plays the hand and see whether there is any sensible way for him to know, without the use of mirrors, that West was dealt the doubleton queen of clubs.

West leads a trump and South notes that the only losing trick is a club. There are two obvious ways of avoiding the club loser. One depends upon the outstanding hearts being divided 3-3, in which case dummy's fourth heart would provide a parking space for the club loser.

The other way is to rely on East's having been dealt the queen of clubs, in which case a finesse against the queen would be successful.

There is no need for South to explore either possibility immediately, so he wins the diamond, ruffs a spade high, crosses to his hand with a trump, ruffs another spade high, and then plays three rounds of trumps. This brings about the following position:

North
♥ A 9 7 4
♣ A 8

West
♠ Q J
♥ 5 3
♣ Q 7

East
♥ J 10 8 2
♣ 10 9

South
♥ K Q 6
♣ K J 2

The K-Q-A of hearts are cashed, West showing out. Declarer therefore knows that East's last three cards include the jack of hearts.

Dummy leads the ace and another club, East following to both clubs. It would be foolish for South to finesse the jack because East's last card is known to be the jack of hearts and cannot therefore be the queen of clubs. Hence, declarer plays the king, which drops the queen and makes the contract.

and Dansk Ask.....

WHAT KIND OF A HOME DO YOU WANT? Ten years ago, this was easier to answer. Homes were either "traditional" or "modern." Today they overlap.

Many decorators get a wonderful effect by putting Victorian kerosene lamps next to severely straight couches. By filling old apothecary's jars with flowers and setting them on contemporary tables. Look at the revival of the rocking chair. This will go into any room.

Our advice is to follow your own taste. Trust what you like. The stronger your tastes, the more individual your home will be.

Some people think Dansk designs are modern. Actually they are not. In all immodesty we can say that like any good designs, they are ageless. You will not tire of them, as you might of strictly "modern" pieces. (Did you know Dansk designs are in the Louvre? What could be more ageless?)

Here are our rather famous "Kobenstyle" casseroles. Enamel on steel and surprisingly chip-proof. They can even go right over a flame. The colors look beautiful on a dining table. Poppy red, turquoise and corn yellow. 2 qt. casserole 12.95; 4 qt. casserole 14.95; 6 qt. casserole 16.95.

Seaton Hopes To Announce Decision On Gubernatorial Race Friday

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Fred Seaton hopes to announce a decision on his possible entrance into the Republican gubernatorial primary race at a press conference in Lincoln Friday.

The former secretary of the interior Monday told The Star by telephone that "some factors remain to be resolved" before he reaches a firm decision on the matter.

In answer to a query, he said he is not now "leaning" either way on the question of whether or not to seek the nomination.

"I am going to try hard to make an announcement at a press conference in Lincoln Friday morning," Seaton said.

"I devoutly hope it will be ready by then."

Will Speak

The Hastings publisher will be in the Capital City Friday to address a dinner meeting of the Nebraska Outstate Publishers Assn.

Seaton also denied published reports that he would head a Midwest drive to obtain the Republican presidential nomination for Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York.

"There is absolutely nothing to it," the former Eisenhower cabinet member said.

"No such offer has been made. I haven't talked to Gov. Rockefeller or anyone purporting to represent him since leaving Washington the latter part of January.

"Obviously there are more important things to think about such as the congressional and state elections in 1962."

The New York Herald-Tribune has said Seaton would accept Midwest leadership of the Rockefeller campaign.

(When asked if the report was correct, an aide to the governor in Albany told The Associated Press: "Not to my knowledge." Rockefeller himself was unavailable.)

Seaton returned this weekend from a business trip to Denver. He spoke in Aurora Monday.

GOP State Chairman Charles Thone of Lincoln has already announced his candidacy for the gubernatorial nomination.

Former Gov. Victor Anderson of Lincoln is also considering entrance into the race — but apparently would not oppose Seaton.

CAB, FAA To Check Non-Skeds

Washington (UPI) — The federal government's two top aviation officials Monday ordered the heads of all non-schedule airlines to meet with them Dec. 15 for a discussion of their safety practices and financial condition.

The order was contained in a telegram signed by Federal Aviation Administrator Najeeb E. Halaby and Civil Aeronautics Board Chairman Alan S. Boyd.

The telegram did not specifically mention the crash last Wednesday of a non-scheduled airliner which killed 74 Army recruits and 3 crewmen at Richmond, Va.

But Halaby and Boyd said that "recent events and the status of supplemental air carrier legislation have indicated the necessity" for such a meeting.

The two air chiefs said the CAB and FAA want to be sure that "all standards of public convenience and necessity are being met." They added that they will turn over to the "appropriate" Congressional committees all information regarding each supplemental carrier.

The telegram said the two agencies have been conducting an "intensified" inquiry into the safety, maintenance performance and financial condition of all non-skeds.

It said the CAB and FAA surveys will not be completed before the end of the year, but that enough information has been gathered to warrant discussion with the presidents or operating heads of the non-skeds.

By DON BRYANT

Nebraska's Cornhuskers wasted no time dwelling on their thrashing of Iowa State.

While happy over their rousing victory and the 3rd win of the campaign, they took dead aim on the Colorado Buffaloes Monday.

Coach Bill Jennings ordered full battle gear instead of the usual sweat suit routine Monday in order to "get right to work in case we lose some time later in the week."

Monday's schedule, while light on contact, included team work on defenses for the Buffs and some offensive review.

Biggest news from the NU camp was the declaration from Jennings that Bill (Thunder) Thornton "will definitely remain at fullback."

Thornton gained 89 yards against Iowa State and his up-the-middle bomb runs enabled other Husker backs to break lose for considerable yardage as Nebraska ran up its best offensive showing.

Jennings said that "if all our boys respond as expected, physically, we'll be in much better shape against Colorado."

Kep returnee will be Rudy Johnson, the No. 1 fullback, who missed the Cyclone game.

Jennings said he expected Johnson to be ready and added, "If Rudy can go, he'll be at left halfback."

Thus, the Thornton-Johnson position exchange which has been contemplated will come off this week, providing Johnson can play.

Whether or not Johnson takes over the No. 1 left halfback job will be determined this week, Jennings said.

As of Monday the spot was in possession of Dick Callahan, the soph who moved from end when injuries struck. He had a good day against Iowa State and almost broke loose on two occasions.

Dennis Claridge's excellent quarterbacking job at Ames points to the probability that he'll devote most, if not all, of his time there, rather than seeing service occasionally at left half.

In preparation for Gale Weidner, the Big 8's top passer, the Huskers will log plenty of pass defense time this week.

Playing the role of the Buff flinger will be freshman Doug Tucker, while Kent McCloughan will be the prime receiver—in real life Colorado's 235-pound end Jerry Hillebrand.

After viewing movies, Jennings praised again the work of Thornton, tackle Gary Toogood, end Don Purcell, center Ron Michka, tackle Bob Brown, Claridge and Callahan at Iowa State.

STAPLETON SPIKES NU JOB RUMOR

Ames, Ia. (UPI) — Iowa State football coach Clay Stapleton said Monday he knows "absolutely nothing except what I read and what I get by rumors" about the possibility he may be under consideration as head football coach at Nebraska.

Speculation has arisen about the Nebraska job since the Huskers are in the market for an athletic director and football coach Bill Jennings' contract expires after the current season.

Asked whether he would consider the Nebraska job if it were offered him, Stapleton hedged, saying he felt, "a strong loyalty" to Iowa State and believed he "still had a job to do here."

"On the other hand," Stapleton said, "it would be imbecilic for me not to consider a better offer."

Looking at his team's current record, 3-3 in the Big 8 and 4-4 overall, Stapleton said, "I am happy at Iowa State, perhaps happier than Iowa State is with me. If I lose two more games I might go home and hang myself in effigy before someone else does."

Dupas Easy Victor

New Orleans (AP)—Welterweight Ralph Dupas' machine gun attack was too much for the shotgun counter-offensive of Mexico's Halario Morales Monday night and the New Orleans speedster won an easy 10-round decision.

GINGER . . . Killed In Kidnap Plot.

TEXAS U STUDENTS KILL BAYLOR BEAR

Austin, Tex. (AP)—University of Texas students and officials began a series of apologies Monday to Baylor University for 9 pranksters who killed a Baylor mascot bear cub in a kidnaping attempt.

The 9-month-old cub, named Ginger, died last Thursday night when slugged with a wrench during the kidnap plot. Ginger was one of a set of twin cubs. The other, Pepper, was unharmed.

Dean of Student Life Arno Nowotny said the 9 culprits met with members of a special committee of student leaders, faculty members and athletic department officials, known as the rally committee. That group made 3 recommendations:

1. That the 9 appear before a university disciplinary committee of 3 faculty members and two students "for serious disciplinary action."

2. That student leaders go to Waco to make a public apology to Baylor students for the death of the mascot.

3. That University of Texas president Joseph R. Smiley be asked to issue a statement to the effect that any similar actions by Texas students in the future would result in immediate suspension of those students.

Nowotny said he could not release the names of the 9 students.

The dean said no date has been set for the public apology in Waco but "at least 25 wires of apologies" have already gone to Baylor. These included one by football coach Darrell Royal.

Nowotny said the agreement of the 9 students to make complete restoration by buying Baylor a new set of twin cubs has nothing to do with the university leaders actions and was made voluntarily by the youths involved.

SCANNING THE BOWLS:

Alabama Favorite For Trip To Roses

Los Angeles (AP) — Alabama was the overwhelming preference for a Rose Bowl invitation in a vote taken Monday by members of the Southern California chapter of the Football Writers Association.

The vote by hands:

Alabama 13, Minnesota 6, and Ohio State and Purdue one apiece.

Sugar In Bind

New Orleans (AP) — A New Orleans newspaper quoted unidentified Sugar Bowl officials as ready to make an all-out effort to land Louisiana State and Alabama.

"If we can't land that game, we'll be in a real bind," said one official, according to Times-Picayune sports writer Buddy Diliberto.

Another official was quoted as saying: "The pickings are slim if we can't match LSU and Alabama."

Cotton Waits

Dallas, Tex. (AP) — The Cotton Bowl won't make a decisive move toward filling its Jan. 1 football game until after Saturday, Cotton Bowl president Harry Shuford said.

Even then such a move depends on the results of several big games.

The Cotton Bowl has Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana State, Georgia Tech and Tennessee on its prospect list, Shuford said, and some of these teams meet each other Saturday. Georgia Tech plays Alabama while Mississippi clashes with Tennessee.

Texas may clinch the host spot in the Cotton Bowl when it plays Texas Christian at Austin.

11 Gator Picks

Jacksonville, Fla. (AP) — The Gator Bowl selection committee has cut its list of prospective teams for the December 30 game to 11. They include:

Alabama, Louisiana State, Mississippi, Georgia Tech, Maryland, Syracuse, Army, Navy, Texas, Arkansas and Miami.

Texas Holds AP Lead; Purdue, Orange Climb

Longhorns, Next 4 Keep Their Places

By Associated Press

The unbeaten Texas Longhorns maintained their commanding lead in the weekly Associated Press college football poll Monday while Purdue and Syracuse moved into the Top 10.

The Longhorns, 33-7 victors over Baylor Saturday for their 8th straight triumph, were named the leading team by 41 of the 47-man committee of sports writers and sportscasters.

Alabama, which clobbered Richmond 66-0, remained in second place followed by Ohio State, Louisiana State and Minnesota.

There were no changes among the first 5, but there was some wholesale shifting in the next 5 except for Colorado which held onto the No. 8 spot despite a 21-12 loss to Utah.

Mississippi, 54-0 winner over Chattanooga, advanced one place to 6th. Purdue's 7-6 conquest of Michigan State resulted in two changes, the Boilermakers moving into 7th and the Spartans dropping from 6th to 9th.

Syracuse defeated colgate 51-8 for its 3rd in a row and climbed from the also-rans to 10th position.

Georgia Tech, which lost to Tennessee 10-6, and Missouri, beaten by Oklahoma 7-0, dropped out of the first ten.

Texas collected 463 points on a basis of 10 for a first place vote, 9 for second etc. Alabama had 401 points.

Texas and Alabama are the only unbeaten-untied teams among the leaders. The Crimson Tide is also 8-0. Ohio State, tied by TCU in its opener, has won its last 6.

In the only meeting between teams in the first 10 this Saturday, Purdue (5-2) is at Minnesota (6-1).

Do-Everything Star Likes Pulling Teeth

New York (AP)—Jim Howell, director of personnel for the New York Giants, chuckled when he read this scouting report today to the New York football writers.

"This is the golden haired boy. 6-2 200 pounds. Can do everything there is to be done on the football field. Big, fast, elusive, smart, easy to coach, fine receiver, fine defensive man, fine punter (averaged 43 yards for 63 punts, none blocked). Great running back punts and kickoffs.

"Wants to be a dentist. Probably won't play pro football."

—IOWA STATE WIN NO. 5—

MEADE'S SURE TOE IS DEATH FOR FOE

Coach Bill Jennings and the seniors on the Nebraska football team undoubtedly have a special affection for Ron Meade, the senior quarterback from Canby, Minn.

During Meade's varsity career as a Cornhusker, Nebraska has won 11 games—and Ron's toe has provided margin of victory in 5 of the contests.

Meade

His latest foot job was at Iowa State last Saturday when he booted a 31-yard field goal with one second left in the half. That gave the Huskers a 10-7 edge and was the final difference in the 16-13 win.

It was his 7th field goal as a Husker, tying him with Vic Halligan for the NU career record. Halligan kicked 7 field goals from 1912 through 1914.

Meade's toe won 3 games for the Huskers during his sophomore campaign in 1959. His extra point was the difference as NU beat Oregon State, 7-6, and he hit two field goals and an extra point in the unforgettable 25-21 win over Oklahoma. It was his two PAT kicks that edged Colorado 14-12.

Last year it was Meade's field goal and PATs that supplied a 17-14 difference against Oklahoma.

Ron's other two field goals came (1) in the 10-3 loss to Kansas in 1959 and (2) the 17-7 win over Kansas State in 1960.

In the extra point department, Meade has connected on 25 of 37 attempts.

So it won't be surprising if the Cornhuskers retire Ron Meade's shoe and have it bronzed for the Coliseum trophy room. It's been a mighty valuable brogan.

Cozad Runs Far Ahead Of Class B Grid Field

. . . OMAHA HOLY NAME IS RUNNERUP

By MIKE COONEY
Star Sports Writer

Cozad runs far ahead of the pack in claiming The Star's Class B prep football championship. The Haymakers used a perfect 9-0 season and a "I don't want it; you can take it" attitude in the rest of the class to waltz to the crown.

Coach Terry William's charges were never seriously threatened over a 9 game slate. The Haymakers defeated the best Class B clubs of the area handily, then threw in victories over Class A foes, Ogallala, McCook, and Holdrege for good measure.

Fullback Kelly Peterson, who some say is a better back than Broken Bow's heralded Kent McCloughan, was the Haymakers offensive leader. His leather popping running accounted for a giant share of the Cozad offensive yardage.

Center Brad DeWitt, a tough 200-pounder lead the Haymakers' defensive charge.

High spots of the campaign were wins over McCook, Gothenburg, Lexington and Holdrege. Those victories assured the title.

The rest of the class was puzzling. Perennial powers Schuyler, Falls City and Broken Bow faded badly this fall and a rash of upsets made ranking difficult.

The final top ten:

2. Omaha Holy Name — Playing the toughest schedule of any team in the class the Ramblers came on strong after a shaky beginning to nail down the runnerup spot. Do-everything halfback Steve Balcovec and tough tackle George Blankenship sparked the Omaha school to a 6-3 season in coach Don Roddy's first year.

3. David City Aquinas — Long time champions of Class C moved up this fall and played well. Faded after a victory over Holy Name in mid-season but played well enough to nip Blair for 3rd place.

4. Blair — The huge Bears were headed for a higher ranking until slip at Holy Name. Quarterback Dave Refsell sparked the belly-series offense.

5. Auburn—Came on strong in late season. Only loss was at the hands of Class A rated Nebraska City. Tie with Falls City ruined chance for higher ranking.

6. Central City — A hot and cold team that was hot most nights. Tie with Aurora lone blemish on tough schedule. End Jim Kuhn led a tough defense.

7. Chadron — A young team that finished well after a shaky beginning. Could take the title next fall if youngsters continue to develop.

8. Grant — Fine season for Indians marred by a schedule that included 3 Colorado schools. Last win, over Oshkosh, was best of 8.

9. Gothenburg — J. J. Agustyn's club faded badly after loss to Cozad. Quarterback Ron Hudson among state's best passers.

10. Crete — The best of the rest. The Cardinals of coach Lester Lee finished very well with wins over Schuyler and Columbus. Played a very tough schedule with fair success.

Thunder At Home

Return of Bill Thornton to fullback met with great success at Iowa State.

Thunder looked at home for the first time this year—and he gave the Cyclones fits. Time after time he just bulled his way forward, dragging Cyclones with him.

But Bill takes a fearsome beating, physically. He's a prime target and gets banged around pretty good in pileups.

At Ames he got the heave-ho for losing his temper—after All American candidate Dave Hoppmann took a swipe at his face, jamming a finger in his eye and gouging his nose.

"Everyone does that kind of stuff to him," one Husker coach remarked after the game. "It's really something the way they go after him. They know he's the big man and they try everything."

To his credit, Thornton doesn't complain. He didn't even name his assailant at Iowa State, remarking only, "I don't know who did it—but the only thing I minded was the finger in the eye and getting kicked out. I shouldn't have lost my temper because we might have scored—we should have, anyway."

Miss Watkins

Clay Stapleton wasn't kidding when he said the Cyclones "sure could use Thornton."

Their most obvious weakness is at fullback, left vacant by the graduation of the incomparable Tom Watkins, now with the Cleveland Browns.

Iowa State doesn't have a good fullback, so the single wing attack is shy any punch up the middle. That's why Hoppmann—a very good back—has to work overtime.

"I won't say our fullbacking is bad because it would be doing an injustice to 3 fine boys who are doing their best," Stapleton said after the game.

But his consideration for his players doesn't hide the fact Watkins is sorely missed.

It's not hard to imagine what a force Iowa State would be with Thornton at fullback.

NU Line Tough

Actually, the Huskers out-toughed the Cyclones up front. They put on a great charge all afternoon, with the ends crashing in at an angle toward Hoppmann.

This was in sharp contrast to previous outings against Stapleton's single wing when the line played the ball and waited. NU went after the Cyclones all the way and issued a sound drubbing.

Glaring Weakness?

Bob Ghilotto, assistant coach at Colorado who scouted the Huskers (and Cyclones) was impressed with Nebraska and Thornton, as well as Hoppmann.

"Nebraska played very well, really aggressive," he said. "And Thornton runs tremendously hard."

Ghilotti said "Nebraska was in command and looked like the best team. It showed some weaknesses, of course, but Iowa State couldn't capitalize on them."

Bob didn't identify the weakness—or areas of possible exploitation—but he might have been referring to the NU pass defense which was riddled quite heavily by Hoppmann (11 of 21 for 176 yards.)

And the Cyclone ace was having a bad day, with his pass wobbling all over—but finding their mark.

"If he would have been real sharp—real hot, that is—it might have been different," the CU scout opined. "But Nebraska certainly looked like the best team today."

"There's a good chance Chilotti will advise the Buffs to put the ball in the air—something they're quite capable of doing with Gale Weidner pitching and Jerry Hillebrand catching.

Oiler VP Says Kuharich Shipped Ditka To Bears

Chicago (AP) — Johnny Breen, vice president of the Houston Oilers of the American Football League, charged Monday that Notre Dame coach Joe Kuharich kept Mike Ditka from talking contract with the Oilers and maneuvered him to the Chicago Bears.

Ditka is a former All-America end from Pittsburgh. He has caught 9 touchdown passes for the Bears this season and George Halas, owner-coach of the club, says that he deserves to be the National Football League rookie of the year.

This is the Ditka story as Breen told it at Chicago's American Quarterback Club:

"Kuharich spends half his time working for the Bears, and if he devoted full time to his Notre Dame job his team probably would have a better record. Anyway, Kuharich was on the coaching staffs of the East-West and Hulu Bowl games last season. He had Ditka tied up all the time in San Francisco.

"I made an appointment to see Ditka during the East-West game, but when it was over Kuharich took him in hand and sneaked him out the back door.

"Milt Bruhn (of Wisconsin, coach of the East) got in touch with me, however, and said he would have Ditka see me before he left with Kuharich for Hawaii. I did meet Ditka. I told him we would better any offer. He told me he would not sign until he first talked with me.

"But he never came. Kuharich brought him back to San Francisco and called Halas in Chicago to meet them. Kuharich introduced Ditka to Halas. Halas put the heat on him and he signed for $15,000 plus a $4,000 bonus.

"Ditka told me he had signed for this after I had offered him $15,000 and a $5,000 bonus. Ditka is a fine player and he'll make a good coach out of Halas yet."

Halas denied Breen's account.

"I have no knowledge of any college coach contacting Ditka on our behalf," he said. "No part of Breen's story is consistent with the facts."

200,000 Minnesotans Afield Spells Trouble

Minneapolis (AP) — When more than 200,000 Minnesotans take to the woods in quest of deer, their zeal often leads them far afield. This year was no exception.

During the opening weekend:

—Four hunters died of accidental gunshot wounds and 5 more suffered fatal heart attacks.

—Ten hunters got lost in the northeastern Minnesota woods country.

—Four youths were arrested at Rochester and accused of selling a stolen electric saw to buy a license, then shooting 3 tame deer they had tied to a tree. The deer were to be used to aecompany a "Santa Claus" during the holidays.

—A rifle bullet crashed through the city assessor's office at Brainerd.

—Two Brainerd hunters said deer they had shot were stolen.

—The St. Louis County board asked the State Conservation Department to make all county school grounds into game refuges to prevent shooting around school buildings.

—And a man dressed in the red garb of a deer hunter held up a gas station at Richmond, taking $500.

Kelly Advises: Look In Mirror

. . . AT BEATRICE ST. JOSEPH FETE

By DON BRYANT
Star Sports Editor

Beatrice — Nebraska assistant football coach George Kelly advised members of the St. Joseph High School football team to "look in a big mirror every day" here Monday as the Sertoma Club honored the Gage County champions at an awards luncheon.

"You may be able to kid other people," Kelly said. "But you can't kid yourself. So look in that mirror and make sure you give 100 per cent in everything that you do."

The Husker aide also told the group that a lot of Nebraska sophomores "grew up" against Iowa State in the 16-13 win last week.

"They were freshman last year and remembered beating Iowa State's freshman," he said. "On Wednesday they started to mature, realizing they'd be playing some of the same boys they'd beaten, and we had a great practice. It carried over in the game."

Referring to the 8-1 record posted by the St. Joe team, Kelly joked, "It's great to be among winners." Then he predicted:

"Nebraska people have a great deal to look forward to, because they are going to have Big 8 title contenders and be looking forward to that trip to Miami shortly."

The Sertoma Club's Most Valuable Player Trophy was presented to ace St. Joe back Gerald Fisher by Beatrice sportscater Arlin Holle, while Lincoln sportscaster Bob Zenner presented St. Joe coach Tom Carey with a trophy symbolic of the county championship.

Certificates were presented to the players, student manager John Drodow, coach Carey, athletic director the Rev. George Stoeckinger and assistant athletic director the Rev. Patrick O'Byrne by Al Riddington, sports editor of the Beatrice Sun, and Don Bryant, sports editor of The Star.

Other honored guests included Beatrice Mayor Chris E. Blaser, Msgr. Ferdinand Mock, who gave the invocation; State Sen. Willard Waldo of DeWitt and Sertoma president Don Fletcher.

Dr. Patrick C. Gillespie served as master of ceremonies.

Players Lauded

Joining in the festivities, as guests of Sertoma, were the members of the St. Joe pep club.

MIGHTY FINE SPORT—ARCHERY

If he didn't already believe so, Dr. Ben James (left), Lincoln dentist, is now convinced that archery is the most rewarding sport of all hunting. The convincer was this 160 pound dressed doe shot by Dr. James along the Loup River near Columbus, his first deer in 4 years of pursuit with a bow and arrow. With Dr. James is Virgil Brockman, hunting companion from Wagner's Lake, Columbus. Dr. James noted that archery is a fast growing sport and the percentage of kill with the weapon is on the increase, with Nebraska high nationally in this latter category. (Photo special to The Star.)

Moore's Defense Success

Tokyo (AP)— Davey Moore closed with a rush, dropping Kazuo Takayama for a 9-count in the 13th round, and went on successfully to defend his world featherweight boxing title by winning a unanimous decision in 15 rounds.

The 28-year-old champ from Springfield, O., left no doubt about the contest after he solved the early charging tactics of Takayama, a 25-year-old Japanese resident of Korean parentage.

Moore caught up with his opponent in the 13th when he landed a hard left to the jaw and followed with a tremendous right to the head. Takayama went down but bounced up quickly and took the rest of the 9-count on his feet. He was dazed and the bell saved him.

In the last two rounds Moore used Takayama for a punching bag but the battered challenger refused to go down again and was fighting back at the final bell.

There was no doubt about the decision. Referee Jimmy Wilson of Los Angeles scored it for Moore 73-59. Judge Tony Maceroni of Providence, R.I., a representative of the National Boxing Association, scored it 72-64 and judge Haruo Ishiwatarido of Japan had it 74-67.

It was Moore's 4th defense of the crown he won from Hogan (Kid) Bassey, March 18, 1959. One of his previous victims was Takayama whom he outpointed last Aug. 29 in Tokyo.

Moore weighed 126, the class limit, to Takayama's 125½ pounds. A packed house of 10,000, more than half sitting cross-legged on Japanese straw mats, and a nationwide TV audience saw the bout.

Agreement Reached

Glasgow, Scotland (AP)—Scotland and Czechoslovakia Monday agreed to play their decisive World Soccer Cup qualifying match in Brussels Nov. 29.

The match will decide which team goes to Chile for the World Cup finals next year.

Missouri Marina Ready By Spring

Work on a boating marina on the Missouri River adjacent to Nebraska City will be completed in the spring of 1962, the State Game Commission said Monday.

Started in July and set for completion in 1961, the project has been delayed by heavy rains, 19.86 inches since July.

Omaha May Be Forced Out Of NBL

Omaha (AP)—President William Russell of the Omaha Packers and owner of the team, says he will be forced to turn back the city's franchise in the National Bowling League unless new sources of income are found.

He said Sunday night he will be unable to continue much longer incurring financial losses resulting from poor attendance at league bowling matches here.

Best attendance for the Packers was the opening night turnout of 800 on Oct. 13. Three weekend matches with Dallas, first place club in the Eastern Division, drew a total attendance of only 970, he said.

Russell said his chief hopes for sources of additional income are from arena concessions and from television contracts the league is trying to sell.

A league meeting is scheduled to open in Chicago Thursday.

Baylor Must Report For Duty, Nov. 26

Los Angeles (AP)—The Army announced Monday that Elgin Baylor must return to active duty Nov. 26.

The basketball star, expected to give the Los Angeles Lakers a big boost toward the National Basketball Association championship, has been called to active duty as an Army reservist.

He is to report to Ft. Lewis, Wash., as a medical corpsman with the 828th Station Hospital.

Baylor started the NBA season with sensational success. "He's the greatest player in the game," his coach, Fred Schaus, said when he learned of the call-up.

The 6-5, 230-pound player will serve as one of the country's biggest medical orderlies for a year, unless otherwise assigned.

He served 6 months' active duty after enlisting in the reserve 3 years ago. He was about halfway through his 6-year inactive-duty commitment when the call-up came.

'All Forgiven Y.A.' Says S.F. Telegram

San Francisco (AP) — "Come back, Y. A., all is forgiven" were the words contained in a box on the front page of the San Francisco's Chronicle's Sporting Green Monday.

Designed as a telegram, the "Y. A." referred to Y. A. Tittle, pro football quarterback who Sunday propelled the New York Giants into a first place tie with the Philadelphia Eagles in the Eastern Division of the National Football League.

The 35-year-old veteran, who was traded to the Giants from San Francisco's 49ers before the season began, tossed 3 touchdown passes in New York's 38-21 victory.

The 49ers Sunday dropped their 3rd game in 4 starts, a 17-7 decision to the Los Angeles Rams.

CELT COACH DRAWS 3-DAY SUSPENSION

New York (AP) — Fiery Red Auerbach, coach of the Boston Celtics was handed a 3-game suspension Monday because of his clashes with National Basketball Association referees. Auerbach charged the referees were "out to get me."

Maurice Podoloff, NBA president, announced the suspension from his headquarters and apologized for not making it sooner. "I was out of town over the week-end and couldn't take action," he said.

Podoloff ordered Auerbach barred from Boston's next 3 games — tonight in St. Louis, Thursday in Cincinnati and Friday in New York.

The NBA executive said the action was taken because of Auerbach's ejection from the Boston-Philadelphia game Saturday in Boston. He was thumbed out by referee Norman Drucker.

The Boston coach had been tossed out of a game between Detroit and Boston in Philadelphia the previous Thursday by rookie referee Joe Gushue.

After that incident, Auerbach was fined $200 by the NBA and warned that a similar offense would result in a suspension.

Auerbach was on the bench Sunday night when the Celtics beat the Chicago Packers in Chicago 112-96. The Packers announced they were playing the game under protest.

Lefler 8th Graders Hep To Space Technology

By WOODY HOWE
Star Staff Writer

A demonstration of the latest developments in space technology was in no danger of being over the heads of the scientifically hep 8th graders at Millard Lefler Junior High School Monday.

The space lingo might have awed the average adult. Terms such as lunar probe, Tiros satellite, Gs, thrust and electro-magnetic radiation were as commonplace in the National Aeronautics and Space Administration presentation as pom-pons at a pep rally.

STAR PHOTO

Were the students awed? Not at all:

"It was a pretty good review," said 13-year old Jane Lind.

Dave Beckman, another 8th grader, said the only thing new to him was a demonstration in which radio waves were bounced off a small replica of the Echo satellite.

Want More

Jane, Dave and Bob Stepp lingered after the lecture to examine models of U.S. space hardware from the crudest rocket to the most sophisticated Mercury capsule. They all admitted they were eager for more classes in science.

Dave wondered aloud when the public schools would install 7 periods, "so we could have more science." When he spotted School Superintendent Steven N. Watkins in the building, the 3 raced off to present their case for an extended school day.

The NASA presentation was one of 10 to be given in public schools and at the University of Nebraska during the week-long Lincoln Area Aerospace Science Clinic.

The 360 Millard Lefler 8th graders sat in rapt attention throughout the hour and one-half demonstration and responded with enthusiastic applause at its conclusion. Earlier Monday the lecture team was at Lincoln High School.

The team is headed by Dr. Robert Krebs, who said, "Today's high school students are the old men of the space age."

The evidence at Millard Lefler, at any rate, appeared to support this contention.

Booming Call Girl Ring Hit

Warsaw, Poland (AP) — A booming call girl racket operating in one of Warsaw's biggest hotels has been exposed with the arrest of 15 hotel employes, the newspaper Kurier Polski reported Monday.

Those arrested included receptionists, doormen, porters, elevator operators and waiters at the 16-story Warszawa Hotel in the center of Warsaw, the newspaper said.

The suspects are accused of renting rooms for the night to Warsaw prostitutes and steering call girls to guests' rooms for tips ranging from 500 to 1,000 zlotys (about $20 to $40).

The hotel employes also were accused of renting rooms to about 20 prostitutes who resided permanently at the hotel.

One of the girls who lived at the hotel told police her fees ranged up to 2,000 zlotys ($80) a night.

Beatrice City Council Okays School Signal

Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Beatrice—Whether a proposed school traffic light should be two or 4-way occupied the City Council for nearly two hours—and kicked off discussion about general traffic problems.

The majority finally settled on a 4-way signal to protect children attending Cedar School. Operated only before and after school hours, the light will be installed at Court and Penrod Sts.

Injury of a child at a crossing last week by a hit-run driver helped prompt the action, approximately a dozen parents attending the meeting said.

In other action, the council referred to the property committee a request by the Senior Citizens that they be permitted to occupy the Municipal Building basement after the National Guard moves to its new armory. The 300-member group would be willing to rent the quarters, a spokesman said, and would keep it open 5 days a week for elderly persons.

Some discussion ensued as to whether the quarters in the basement might be occupied by the fire department, but several councilmen expressed agreement to the Senior Citizens suggestion.

Other action:

—Beardmore Chevrolet Co., was apparent low with a bid of $3,071 on a 1½-ton dump truck for the street department.

—Meints Bros. Construction Co. was apparent low on sanitary sewer District 107 with a bid of $1,780.

—The finance committee was asked for a recommendation as to the type of bookkeeping and cash register desired in the police department.

—A petition asking that parking be restored on one side of Scott from 4th to 12th was referred to the traffic safety committee.

Ketch Mishap Fatal To Six

Nassau, Bahamas (AP)— Six persons lost their lives aboard the ketch Blue Bell, out of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and only one survived, it was reported Monday night.

Julian Harvey of Miami, the survivor, and the body of an 8-year-old girl were brought to Nassau by Capt. Philip Brown, a Nassau harbor pilot who took them from the tanker, Gulf Lyon.

Name of the dead girl was not immediately available.

Harvey was suffering from shock and exposure and was put to bed. He could give no details.

Reports reaching Nassau said Harvey's wife, another man and his wife and two other children aboard the ketch were killed when the mast toppled and caused an explosion Sunday night.

The accident occurred between Sandy Point, Abaco, and Stirrup Key Lighthouse, about 50 miles northwest of Nassau.

Explosions Rip Chemical Plant

Turin, Italy (AP)—A series of explosions ripped through a Montecatini chemical factory Monday night. One worker was killed, and 10 were injured.

A spokesman for Montecatini, Italy's major chemical firm, said the factory was heavily damaged. He said technicians had not determined the cause of the blasts.

Casualties were relatively light.

Snow? why go?

with the YELLOW PAGES!

Here's a handy hint for the wintry weeks ahead when you won't want to venture out. Order the services and merchandise you need by telephone. Businesses are classified, then listed alphabetically in the Yellow Pages. Even when you shop in person, you save time by consulting the Yellow Pages first.

The Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Company

What's in it for you?

Next time you see a Union Pacific freight roll by ask yourself this question:
"What's in it...for me?"

When you see a freight train go by don't you often wonder what's in it?

You'd be surprised. If there's one thing that provides a cross-section of America's way of life, it is a freight train. You'll find apples and automobiles, bassinets and breakfast foods, carpets and corn, divans and dishes. But you name them...you use them.

A major part of Union Pacific's activity is hauling freight. We've been doing this for almost a century and the years have brought us a high degree of skill. Ever conscious of our responsibility, we are constantly improving our transportation techniques.

Today's Union Pacific service is better than at any other time in our history. This is true of freight transportation and of the service we provide for travelers —our DOMELINERS between Chicago or St. Louis and the Pacific Coast are proof of this!

The E. H. Harriman Memorial Gold Medal for safety has been awarded Union Pacific 15 times out of the 19 years during which it was eligible.

New Industrial Park Gets City's Approval

. . . BUT ATTACHES CERTAIN STRINGS

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The City Council unanimously approved "M restricted industrial" zoning of the Lincoln Chamber Industrial Development corporation's proposed 300-acre industrial park on the south edge of the city Monday.

However, the council called for an LCIDC agreement guaranteeing all flood drainage control costs within the tract would be borne by the corporation.

If an agreement is not approved next Monday, the council said action would be taken then to rescind the zoning.

The LCIDC tract adjoins U.S. Hwy. 77 on the west and is bounded by the Rock Island and Burlington railroad tracks and extends eastward to 20th Street (as extended).

A small, triangular portion, south of the Rock Island, was not included in the zoning as originally proposed.

Land Optioned

Robert Guenzel, LCIDC attorney, said the land east of 20th has been optioned to Ervin Peterson, a local residential developer, who "plans to construct homes."

Opposition to the zoning came from south Lincoln residents — particularly those of South Hills, a residential subdivision just north of the LCIDC tract.

Atty. Donald Leonard presented a petition with some 160 signatures opposing the zoning. This was in addition to the 119-signature petition filed earlier.

The new petition cited the tract's proximity to residential areas and future growth, anticipated increase in noise, smoke and odor from industrial uses, and flood drainage problems.

"Industrial parks are needed for Lincoln," Leonard said, "but we are apprehensive of this location because of overriding problems such as storm drainage."

J. Max Harding, Sanitary District trustee, said Beal's Slough is under study and "there's some serious flood problems."

Asked if the LCIDC would meet the problem, Harding replied: "I don't know how deep their pocketbook is."

'Would Stand Cost'

However, Guenzel assured the LCIDC would stand all storm drainage costs across its property.

Richard DeVries, Sanitary District engineer, said the Beal's Slough watershed was comparable in size to Antelope Creek.

He noted the district has spent $340,000 lining the Antelope Creek channel for 4,000 feet.

Guenzel said opposition fears of noise and smoke should be allayed by the zoning's performance standards being imposed and the required 50-foot wide planting screen around the tract adjoining residential uses.

As to industiral zoning south of Lincoln, Guenzel noted the city cracked the ice with the Cushman industrial tract near Hwy. 2 and 48th and the Comprehensive Plan conditionally endorses the LCIDC's proposed industrial park.

A half-dozen other residents spoke in opposition to the zoning.

Two Amendments

In other action, the council gave first reading to two amendments to the "M Restricted Industrial District" ordinance.

One would permit one sign for each lot frontage on a street rather than just one sign per industrial lot, but would otherwise limit the size and character.

The other would provide for a 50-foot planting screen around industrial parks.

A third amendment, intended to prohibit raw, metal buildings from the district, will be introduced later when appropriate legal language can be worked out by the law department.

The City-County Planning Commission recommended the LCIDC zoning and also the "restricted industrial" code amendments.

Ordinance Would Curb Some Types Of Signs

A city ordinance prohibiting advertising signs or devices that flash a beam of light on the street or have the appearance of traffic control signs was introduced Monday before the City Council.

City Atty. Ralph Nelson said the new ordinance was modeled after state law and ordinances used by other cities.

It is aimed at flashing beacons, exploding light signs and other illuminated devices that are confusing or distracting to derivers.

Hearing on the ordinance is scheduled for Nov. 27.

Gas Lights

In other action, the council granted special permission for gas street lights in Rathbone Village shopping center near Winthrop and South.

Streets involved are Winthrop between South and Sewell and Ryons and Sewell west 175 feet from Winthrop.

City officials said the special permission and other requirements would be similar to that granted for underground electrical circuits.

Also approved was the plat of Maple Village, a proposed 89-lot residential subdivision south of O between the Missouri Pacific right-of-way and 84th.

Other ordinances introduced on first reading:

—Amendment to land subidivision code to require storm sewers up to 36 inches must be provided by the subdivision developer and also one-half the cost over 36 inches when required. Also required in new subdivisions will be street lights meeting public works department requirements and at the subdivision developer's cost.

—Vacation of 42nd from Vine to O as requested by Wyuka Cemetery.

All council members were present for the regular meeting.

Police Line-Up Valuable Source Of Information

By GARY RODGERS
Star Staff Writer

"He's the one!"

The police line-up, besides its glamorous use in identifying the man "whodunit," is a useful source of information to the officers.

The Lincoln police department has 5 line-ups daily. Each lasts 30 minutes.

The "show-up" (that's what the police call them) is an integral part. The latest batch of jailbirds are placed in the line-up closet where they face bright lights and equally intense interrogation.

Officers Anonymous

The officers remain in anonymity seated in their darkened assembly room, while their commanding officer questions the inmates.

They answer questions about their place of birth, age, time lived in Lincoln and previous convictions and occupations.

Meanwhile, the officers have a chance to size them up, forming a mental image for future reference.

In addition to the show-up, the officers review a broadcasts and cancella tions, current complaints and pick-up orders. Th commanding officer als gives them brief synopse of supplementary informa tion reports.

Storm Sewer For 68th 'Would Cost $165,000'

City Engineer Carl Fisher estimated the cost of a closed storm sewer for 68th from Adams to Fremont at $165,000 in a report Monday to the City Council.

Residents of 68th have petitioned the city for the project, citing the open drainage channel as a hazard to small children and a health nuisance.

No money is available for the project, Public Works Director D. L. Erickson said.

He suggested lining the channel with concrete would be a more practical, economical solution.

A 68th Street resident contended that a storm sewer was programmed in the $3.5 million bond issue passed in 1954.

However, Fisher said no storm sewer funds were projected for 68th between Adams and Fremont.

Some $233,000 was allocated to Havelock storm sewers, but not his particular location, he said. Projects as outlined were constructed, but cost over $400,000.

He noted that Strauss Bros., which platted Cotner Terrace First Addn., provided for a divided 68th Street with a grassed, drainage channel between because no storm sewer funds were available in 1952.

Regarding another storm sewer, Mrs. Arthur Handsaker of 646 So. 53rd charged that the city extended a storm sewer 60 feet across a vacant lot owned by the city and stopped.

Location of the storm drainage problem, affecting some 5 or 6 residential properties, was described as between 53rd and 54th, J and Randolph.

Erickson said the storm sewer was extended across the vacant lot, picked up by the city in a tax sale, to provide a place to dump excess dirt from the Randolph street construction and make the lot "more salable" for the city.

No action was taken on Mrs. Handsaker's complaint.

Also no action was indicated on the 68th problem before the next city budget.

Council Slates Renewal Vote On May Ballot

Lincoln's City Council Monday approved a motion signifying its intention to put the urban renewal issue on the May 10 primary election ballot.

A formal resolution will be presented later.

The issue will be whether voters will grant to the council the power to create an Urban Renewal Authority.

The proposal for the May referendum has the support of the Chamber of Commerce.

The Board of Education also had asked the council's intent, since the board is studying a bond issue referendum, which may go on the ballot at the November general election.

Probe Expected Of Fire Cause

An investigation is expected Tuesday into the cause of a fire that caused considerable damage to an apartment at 726 So. 15th Monday afternoon, Chief Fire Inspector Dallas Johnson said.

Johnson said the fire started in a day bed in a corner of the living room and burned through the floor. Neighboring apartments suffered smoke damage, according to Johnson.

The apartments are owned by the state and are being used to house Cuban refugees.

Cochrane Memorial Bid Opening Deferred

Opening of sealed bids for construction of the proposed $400,000 Nelle Cochrane Woods Memorial building on the University of Nebraska's city campus has been postponed to Tuesday, Nov. 21, at 2 p.m.

The bid-opening was originally scheduled for this Wednesday.

Verner Meyers, director of planning and construction, said the delay was sought by contractors who needed more time in preparing their proposals.

Scottsbluff Will Vote On $800,000 Issue

Scottsbluff, Neb. (UPI)— The Scottsbluff City Council Monday night set a special election for Jan. 9 on an $830,000 bond proposal for the construction of a sewage disposal plant.

The entire project will cost over $1 million. The federal government will pay 30% of the cost under provisions of the National Anti-Stream Pollution Act.

Move Is Made To Place Legion Back On Rolls

A City Council resolution to return the Legionnaire Club's property at 5730 O to the city tax rolls for 1962 and subsequent years was introduced Monday by Councilwoman Helen Boosalis.

A council vote was deferred until next Monday to permit the club's representatives to appear.

City Atty. Ralph Nelson has given the council his opinion that the Legionnaire Club's property as is being used does not meet the state's tax-exempt property statutes.

A previous council overrode the city legal opinion in removing the Legionnaire Club from the tax rolls.

STOCKS AT NEW HIGHS

New York (AP)—The stock market moved to new highs in the popular averages Monday. Trading was heavy.

While some of the market barometers have been touching new highs in the latest upsurge, the Dow-Jones average, until Monday, had remained below its Sept. 7 closing record of 726.53. The Dow-Jones industrials Monday surprised some analysts by advancing 3.60 to a new peak of 728.43 at the close.

The advancing market had to chew up offerings, represented by stock for sale at around the level of the Sept. 7 high in the Dow industrials. Some Wall Streeters believed that it would take a bit of doing and that it would be a bearish omen if the list retreated from an unsuccessful attack on the previous peak. Although some leading issues took losses, and the market's upward progress was a churning, irregular affair, the new record in the Dow was established emphatically.

Volume rose to 4.54 million shares from 4.18 million Friday. The ticker tape was late at the start and again in final dealings.

A 6-point gain by DuPont, which weighs heavily in the market averages, was a big help in the establishment of new highs.

Selective gains by a number of other blue chips also boosted the averages. At the same time, the session was marked by vigorous buying in several of the badly-battered electronics issues, some of which were volume leaders.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 1.60 to another record of 266.7 with industrials up 2.40 and utilities up 1.10, both to new highs for the year, while rails advanced .50.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index moved up .20 to 71.27, another peak.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange also advanced. Volume was 1.79 million shares compared with 1.86 million Friday.

Bond prices closed mixed. Corporates were higher and governments lower most of the session. Activity was moderated in both markets. Corporate volume was $6.98 million par value compared with $6.97 million Friday.

Talk With Nik May Cost Bonn Diplomat Post

Bonn, Germany (AP) — Veteran German diplomat Hans Kroll Monday night faced possible removal from his post as ambassador to Moscow in the backlash of his talk with Premier Khrushchev on the Berlin crisis.

Kroll is due to return to Bonn Tuesday to explain why he made what his government called unauthorized proposals on the future of the divided city.

Foreign Ministry press chief Hans Hille told a news conference Monday that Kroll's future will be decided after the government hears his side of the story. Kroll has been in the German diplomatic service since 1920, with 3 years in Moscow.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, who flies to Washington next week to confer with President Kennedy, personally ordered Kroll's return.

Khrushchev last Thursday summoned Kroll to a long private meeting at which the Soviet leader asked him for his ideas on how the Berlin crisis might be resolved.

Hille said Kroll made at least two proposals that do not represent the West German government's position. However, government press chief Felix Von Eckardt granted at the news conference that Kroll told Khrushchev more than once that he was expressing his own opinions and not those of his government.

Press Reports

Hille said the two proposals correspond with what press reports from Moscow said last week were a new Soviet plan for ending tension over Berlin. The Western allies insist they have received no new proposals from the Kremlin.

He said the two proposals were:

1. A 4-power agreement on the status of West Berlin and access to it from West Germany. This agreement would be reached in advance of a German peace treaty first. They have threatened to sign a treaty with East Germany, which would give access controls to that Communist regime.

2. An arrangement between the Soviet Union and Communist East Germany to guarantee this agreement.

These proposals are in conflict with the West German position that the status of Berlin and its routes to the West already are covered by the agreement reached by the allies at the end of World War II. Bonn also holds there is no need for guarantees from East Germany, whose existence it and the Western allies do not recognize.

Unauthorized

"In his talk with Khrushchev," Von Eckhardt said, "Ambassador Kroll gave some of his thoughts on the Berlin problem without authorization from the government."

Asked how Khrushchev responded to the proposals, Von Eckhardt said: "He was highly receptive."

The news conference deepened the mystery of whether Kroll committed a major indiscretion or if the affair represents a new turn in West German policy on the Berlin issue.

Observers speculated that West Germany may be looking for a way out of an unbudging position which makes the opening of new East-West negotiations difficult. Under this view, the Kroll affair could represent a trial balloon to test public reaction to a more flexible German policy.

Rush Clarke Probe Asked By Scottsbluff

Scottsbluff (UPI) — The Scottsbluff City Council has petitioned for a state investigation of the actions of Special Asst. Atty. Gen. Rush Clarke at the recent Civil Aeronautics Board hearings at Omaha.

The petition was addressed to Gov. Morrison and Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer. Clarke was charged in the petition with "making false and malicious charges about the representatives from Scottsbluff" at the CAB hearing.

Councilman Clark Williams said he overheard Clarke speaking over the telephone with a representative from Alliance. According to Williams, Clarke attributed a profane description of the Alliance representatives to persons from Scottsbluff. He also used profanity in speaking of the Scottsbluff representatives, Williams said.

Remarks Denied

The resolution denied that any derogatory remarks were made by the Scottsbluff representatives and expressed "resentment" over what were termed "efforts of any individual to set Scottsbluff and its neighboring cities against each other."

The resolution also charged that both lawyers representing the State Aeronautics Board at the hearing exhibited hostility towards Williams, who testified for Scottsbluff.

Scottsbluff went on record at the hearing against addition of any more cities to Segment 12 of Frontier Airlines. The city alleged in written testimony that such a move would downgrade the route.

27 HURT IN BUS CRASH

Ann Arbor, Mich. (UPI)—Twenty-seven persons were injured Monday night when a bus went out of control on rain-slicked interstate 94 near here and plunged down a steep, 10-foot embankment.

Police said the driver, James Rogers, 49, Chicago, apparently lost control of the bus at the Jackson Road Overpass on the west side of Ann Arbor.

Rogers and his 26 passengers, bound from Chicago to Detroit, were hospitalized. No one was hurt critically.

Martin E. Chubbuck Dies Of Heart Attack

Martin Ensin Chubbuck, 66, of 2117 No. 27th, was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Elizabeth Hospital Monday night, apparently of a heart attack, police said.

Firemen were called to his residence when he collapsed while working on his garage. After resuscitator treatment, he was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Holland's State Police Study Odd Punishment

Staphorst, Holland (UPI)—State police Monday investigated a case of medieval punishment meted out to two alleged adulterers who were humiliated by being paraded through this ancient town in a cart until they confessed.

Authorities said the action was ordered by a "people's court" as a result of gossip in this straight-laced Calvinist community that a 45-year-old butcher and the 48-year-old wife of a factory worker had committed adultery.

Early Saturday, a posse of local men dressed in homespun baggy trousers with silver-buttoned belts, took the woman from her home and seized the butcher as he left a neighborhood cafe.

They were tossed into the cart and pulled through the streets in jeering procession led by teen-agers swinging Japanese lanterns.

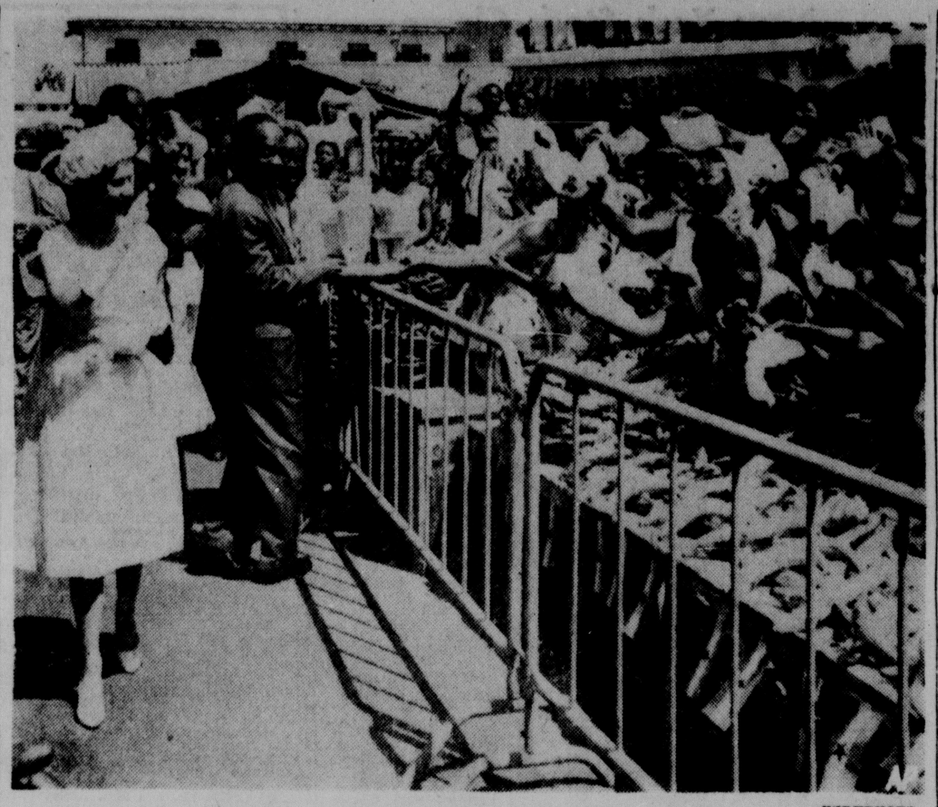

From time to time, the procession stopped before the houses of other suspected adulterers and the marchers chanted: "there is more room in our cart."

At about 3 a.m. the cart reached the center of the town, where the entire adult population was assembled to hear a group of "people's judges" order the man and woman to "confess their sins."

The couple refused to confess and the crowd roared: "into the ditch with them."

The two finally relented and whispered that they had sinned and promised to behave in the future. Only then were they allowed to go home from their public humiliation.

State Police Maj. A. W. De Vrieze arrived in Staphorst Monday to launch an investigation. But police sources said they expect the inquiry to run into a "wall of silence" from the dour townsfolk who cling to their age-old folk costumes and the traditions that go with them.

Queen Elizabeth II of England waves to women who greet her during a visit to a marketplace in Ghana.

Queen Hailed; Not Nkrumah

Tamale, Ghana (AP)—Ghana's President Kwame Nkrumah met stony silence from a waiting crowd when he arrived at Tamale by plane from Accra Monday, an hour ahead of Britain's visiting Queen Elizabeth II.

When the Queen and her husband, Prince Philip, flew in the waiting crowd roared a welcome.

With Nkrumah holding a white parasol to shade her from the fierce sun, the Queen drove 3 miles through the crowd-lined streets, to meet the chiefs of northern Ghana.

Waved Flags

School children waving little triangular Ghana flags of red, green and yellow had stood several hours before the Queen's arrival.

They cheered, shouted and sang greetings.

Everywhere the Queen went the crowd roared "maraba" (welcome).

At the Durbar (regal ceremonial) Ground the Queen watched a display of war dances and met local chiefs, each sitting with his wives and retainers under huge, colored umbrellas.

Given Gifts

Then the chiefs stepped forward to lay gifts at the Queen's feet.

For the Queen there were elephant tusks, crocodile and leopard skins and a roll of native cloth.

One of the prince's gifts was a local hat which he promptly donned. Other gifts included two walking sticks, a pair of size 9½ riding boots and a bow and arrows.

There were also presents for the royal children back home.

Nkrumah's welcome to this capital of northern Ghana was in marked contrast to the reception he received when he drove around Accra, the national capital, with Britain's Commonwealth Relations Secretary Duncan Sandys.

In Accra people threw themselves on the ground before him, dusted his shoes and blew kisses.

In Tamale when he arrived alone the silence seemed almost insolent.

Mass Arrests

Among the chiefs presented to the Queen was Simon Dombo, leader of the opposition United Party in the national assembly. He later told reporters that more than 1,000 people were arrested recently in police raids throughout Ghana.

He said those arrested belonged to the United Party and to the ruling Convention People's Party, but that the arrests had nothing to do with the Queen's security. He claimed that in Kumasi alone there were 250 arrests and more are expected after the Queen's departure.

Dombo, 38, said defiantly that Nkrumah's opposition is not going underground. "As soon as party officials are arrested they will be replaced," he asserted.

Iowa Traffic Accident Kills LAFB Officer

Lincoln Star Special

Cumberland, Iowa—A Lincoln Air Force Base officer died Monday of injuries sustained in a car wreck near here.

He was 2nd Lt. Peter B. Herrick, 23, a navigator in the 343rd Bomb Squadron. He died of a broken neck and skull fracture in a hospital in Atlantic, Iowa.

The accident happened on Hwy. 92 one and one-half miles east of Cumberland. A pickup truck being used as a mail truck skidded on wet pavement and collided headon with the car driven by Herrick. Herrick was alone.

Orville Dunkerson, 64, truck driver, was taken to an Atlantic hospital for treatment of chest and possible internal injuries.

Authorities said a third vehicle ran into the wreckage of the car and truck, but its driver was not hurt.

Herrick was the son of Mr and Mrs. Maurice Herrick of Indianola, Iowa. He was born in Des Moines and graduated from Iowa State University.

Copter Crash Claims Seven

Seoul (AP) — A U.S. Army spokesman said Tuesday 7 persons were killed in a helicopter crash Monday outside Osan Air Force headquarters in Korea, 30 miles south of Seoul.

First reports said 6 persons were killed in the accident. The spokesman said the 7th victim was identified later Monday.

An investigation indicated, he added, that the plane came apart and fell into a rice paddy.

The victims included one company grade officer, two warrant officers and 4 enlisted men, on a routine flight.

W. Germany Gives Aid To 'Guinea Pigs'

Bonn, Germany (AP) — West Germany announced Monday it has given $1,125 million dollars to pay compensation to Polish and Hungarian women used as medical guinea pigs by the Nazis in World War II.

The money will go to 73 Polish and 63 Hungarian women handicapped through operations performed by Nazi doctors at the Ravensbrucek and Dachau concentration camps.

The agreement, arranged through the International Red Cross, is the first providing West German compensation to Nazi victims behind the Iron Curtain.

Poland's share is $625,000 and Hungary's $500,000.

The Polish Red Cross said the victims in its country will receive settlements of from $6,250 to $10,000 each.

Polish Red Cross officials said they are drawing up additional lists of victims of Nazi medical experiments.

The West German government said the compensation for the Polish and Hungarian women exhausted the money available for such purposes in the current budget.

Norman Cousins, chief editor of the Saturday Review, played a major role in negotiations to compensate the medical victims. He sponsored a fund drive in 1959 that took a group of Polish women victims to the United States for treatment.

Brady Sailor Is Victim Of Fatal Drink

San Diego (AP)—Two Navy sailors were dead and a third was in critical condition Monday from drinking methyl alcohol. The alcohol is used as a cleaning agent for torpedoes.

The dead were identified by the Navy as: Ivan L. Weber, boatswain's mate, 3rd class, son of Mrs. Grace Weber of Brady, Neb., and Eugene W. Hawver, gunner's mate 3rd class, of Cambridge, Mass. Frank Floyd, Signalman Seaman, of Edinburg, Tex., was hospitalized.

A torpedo expert said the non-lethal alcohol used for serving the weapons during World War II had been changed to methyl alcohol to discourage use of it for drinking to get intoxicated. The Pacific Fleet cruiser-destroyer force has now issued a warning to all ships, reaffirming safety regulations regarding the alcohol.

Austin is paying 50 cents a head for cats and selling them in Lincoln, Omaha and Grand Island, where the influx of mice has created a thriving market for cats. He said that up to Saturday he had collected 100 cats in Antelope County alone.

Finding Of Wrecked C47 Brings Back Memories

. . . Two Nebraskans Were Aboard Craft In '42

Petersburg (UPI)—Two Nebraskans said they noted with unusual interest news stories of last weekend telling of the findings of a wrecked C47 aircraft in the tangled jungle of New Guinea.

Both men were aboard the craft when it crashed in November of 1942 and both survived a tortuous trip through the jungles to safety which consumed more than a month. They and 4 others apparently were the only survivors among the 23 persons aboard.

The incident was brought to light when a team of American and Australian searchers came upon the wreckage last week.

On the door of the aircraft was a penciled diary noting that the plane crashed Nov. 10, 1942, and that food ran out, that two parties of 4 men left the plane in ensuing days seeking help, but that water from rains was plentiful.

The last entry penciled on the door was Jan. 1, 1942, which said simply: "New Year's Day."

Frank Thomas Jr. 40, Petersburg farmer, and Floyd August, 47, Dorchester, Neb., dairy operator, made it back to civilization by different routes, both of them with the help of friendly natives who guided them, fed them bananas, and in Thomas' case, served as stretcher bearers.

Thomas said he and 3 others left the scene of the wreckage two days after the crash. They spent 33 or 34 days fighting their way through the dense, moss-covered jungle to an Australian army post.

He said they found a stream a short time after leaving the wreckage and fired 3 shots to alert those remaining with the plane that water had been found. Thomas said they then made their way down the middle of the stream until they came to a rapids and tried to float through on logs.

Thomas, who said he could not recall the names of the others in his party, related that two of them were drowned in their attempts to get through the fast-flowing rapids. He said he and his companion went on until they accosted natives, 9 days after they set out.

Thomas said the natives at first were suspicious that they were Japanese, but that they were pacified when he and his companion showed them Australian money.

Thomas said he went to 140 pounds from his usual weight of 195 during the trip, and that he suffered the loss of his hair, fingernails and toenails. He also had malaria and a badly swollen knee suffered in the crash. Natives carried him on a stretcher for two days, he said. The first white men they saw after leaving the plane were in an Australian surveying crew.

Thomas said the surprised Australians radioed ahead to their base and then began a search for the aircraft.

August said he suffered broken ribs in the plane crash and was taped up with black friction tape by Thomas.

August said his party of 4 men left from the plane crash site 5 days after the crash. He said he and his 3 companions all made it to a plantation on which there was an Australian outpost.

"We never would have made it except for the natives," he said. The party was accosted by the natives about 10 days after starting out. August went from 212 pounds to 148. He said they "tried everything" in fighting their way through the jungle.

Both men were hospitalized for a time, then were reassigned to combat units before their discharge in 1945.

The diary, Thomas said, might have been kept by an Army chaplain who was among the survivors and stayed with the plane. He said the chaplain was a captain and a Protestant, but he could not recall his name. August said the diary might also have been kept by a man named Patton.

Filipinos Are Voting

After Bitter Campaign

Manila (Tuesday) (AP)—Favored by sunny skies, Filipinos voted in large numbers Tuesday in this island republic's fifth presidential election after a violent campaign that took 22 lives.

More than 16,000 police and army troops guarded the polls. Early reports of the voting said there were no incidents.

President Carlos P. Garcia of the ruling Nacionalista Party, seeking re-election, voted at Tagbilaran in his home province of Bohol, South Central Philippines. His opponent is Vice President Diosado Macapagal of the Liberal Party.

Both wound up gruelling campaigns predicting victory by comfortable margins. Political observers predict it will be the closest race in the 15-year-old history of this island nation of 27 million.

About 7 million of the 8.8 million registered voters are expected to cast ballots. No definitive trend is expected before Wednesday because of the difficulty in communicating with the many remote towns and villages in the archipelago.

The outcome will not change the Philippines' pro-Western foreign policy. Both Garcia and Macapagal are committed to a pro-American anti-communist stand.

However U.S. military personnel and their dependents were instructed to remain at their bases throughout the election for safety reasons and avoid possible involvement in election incidents.

British Experts Reviewing Plans For Evacuations

London (AP) — British experts are carrying out a comprehensive review of policy on evacuation of civilians from danger areas in the event of nuclear attack.

Dr. Charles Hill, minister of housing and local government, announced this Monday in reply to a parliamentary question by a Laborite member. The member asked what arrangements had been made for evacuation of civilians and for their accommodation in receiving areas.

The ministry's parliamentary secretary, Geoffrey Rippon, in reply to another question, said emergency equipment has been stockpiled for carrying water and measures have been taken to obtain additional sources of water in event of nuclear attack.

Carleton, Hebron Youths Jailed On Car Theft Count

Monmouth, Ill. (UPI) — Two Nebraska youngsters were held in Warren County jail Monday on charges of auto larceny.

Authorities identified the youths as Donald Gooding, 17, of Carleton, Neb., and Linda Schmidt, 15, of Hebron, Neb.

Sheriff's deputies said the youngsters left their Nebraska homes a week ago in a car belonging to Gooding's father.

They drove the car to Kansas, took another car and kept it until the car ran out of gas, then stole another car and drove to Batavia, Ia., where they took a fourth car, authorities said.

The youngsters were arrested by state troopers while they were asleep in the car near here.

One letter simply stands for another, in this example, A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
